CONVERSATION AT SEA—Though most of the conversations between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill no doubt were extremely serious, this photograph shows them in a jovial mood. It was made aboard H. M. S. Prince of Wales Sunday, August 10. Divine services were held aboard the British war vessel for the officials and their staffs. The President holds a prayer book on his lap. Standing behind Prime Minister Churchill are General George Marshall, left, chief of staff, and General Sir John G. Dill, chief of the Imperial British staff. Extreme left behind the President is his son, Captain Elliott Roosevelt. The President will come ashore sometime today at Rockland, Me., ending the history-making cruise. (Story on Page 10.)

Gas Rationing To Begin Today; 18-Month Limit On Installments Sought

Reserve Bank Urges Larger Down Payment

Restrictions Intended for 'Discussion,' Says Chairman Eccles.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—As a first and tentative step in combating inflation by tightening up on credit, the Federal Reserve Board proposed today that the maximum spread on numerous characteristic installment payments be fixed at 18 months.

This would include cash loans of less than $1,000 and purchases of such items as automobiles, both used and new; radios, airplanes, power-driven boats, outboard motors, motorcycles, refrigerators, washing machines, ironers, vacuum cleaners, stoves and ranges, dishwashers, air conditioning units, radios, oil burners, furnaces, water heaters, plumbing and sanitary fixtures, and small residential repair contracts.

To supplement this restriction, it suggested, too, that a minimum down payment of one-third be exacted on automobiles, airplanes, boats and motorcycles, 20 per cent on radios, refrigerators and similar household appliances and 15 per cent on plumbing and air-conditioning units.

Twofold Purpose.

The board's chairman, Marriner S. Eccles, explained that these restrictions were intended for discussion purposes, as the board swings into the new inflation control assignment given it early this week by President Roosevelt.

The purpose is twofold: To keep prices down by eliminating a portion of the present installment buying and thus reducing the volume of purchasing power; and to curb the manufacture of products which eat up materials needed for the production of defense equipment.

"It is proposed," Eccles said, "in the initial regulations covering only a limited number of articles and applying only moderate terms to lay a basis for such subsequent coverage and adjustment of terms as experience in this field and economic development may indicate to be necessary."

The proposal was presented during the day to a meeting of dealers, bankers and other interested businessmen for their approval and discussion. On the basis of their suggestion and further conversations within the board it is expected that a revised draft and revised regulations will be issued some time next week.

License Plan.

As a matter of enforcing the new system, the board suggested that licenses be issued to all banks, stores and other agencies which give installment credit. The licenses of violators would be revoked and they would be forbidden to make any further sales on an installment payment basis.

When issued, the regulations will put into effect an executive order of President Roosevelt directing the Federal Reserve Board to use World War powers to restrict credit. As promised previously, the proposed regulations dealt only with installment credit, and not regular charge accounts or straight loans payable in lump sums. Cash transactions also are not affected. Nor installment contracts made before the regulations go into effect.

PALS—Barking of his dog, "Club Foot," attracted two-year-old Louie Goodwin's older brother to Utoy creek in time to save the little boy from drowning. Louie was unconscious when found and his brother, 16-year-old Everett, brought him around by administering artificial respiration. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Goodwin, of Cascade road. "Club Foot" is just plain dog.

State Must Cut Volume of Fuel By 10 Per Cent

17 Eastern States Hit by New Regulations; Exemptions Listed.

Gasoline will be rationed to Atlanta service station operators beginning today, as the result of an order issued yesterday in Washington directing rationing of gas to service stations throughout the eastern part of the United States.

The order rationing the gas, which goes into effect today, directs that service station operators can buy only 90 per cent of the amount of gas they purchased during the month of July.

The service stations in turn are required by the ruling to limit each consumer to 90 per cent of the fuel he purchased that month. Each consumer will be allowed during the rest of August, 45 per cent of his July consumption.

The unprecedented peacetime action involved issuance of no ration cards to individual car operators, but simply cuts down the amount of gas the service station operator can purchase.

oil to Great Britain.

17 States Involved.

The 17 states involved in the gas rationing have been consuming 1,500,000 barrels of oil per day, Dr. John W. Frey of the marketing division of the Department of Interior, told a five-state conference of road and oil company officials yesterday at Columbia, S. C.

"This means a tanker passes the Florida keys every 100 minutes of the day," Frey said.

The order issued by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply in Washington was on the recommendation of Secretary Harold Ickes, federal fuel coordinator.

"Primarily Mr. Hitler is to blame for the scarcity of gasoline in the Atlantic coast states," Ickes said. "Had it not been for Hitler this country would not have been forced to transfer tankers to Great Britain.

"Already many tankers have been diverted and many more will have to be.

"Apparently I have not been able to make out a clear and convincing case for economy in the use of gasoline, with the result the public has not responded as the American people can be relied upon to respond when the public welfare is concerned."

Exemptions Listed.

Four groups of gasoline users will be exempted in order to assure continuance of essential public services and production of food stuffs. They are:

1. Operators of commercial vehicles so classified by law.
2. Operators of vehicles necessary for public health or safety, including ambulances and vehicles operated by physicians.
3. Operators of farm machinery and motor trucks used for farm purposes.
4. Operators of vehicles owned or operated by federal, state or local governments.

'Very Maximum' of Supplies Pledged Reds by U. S., Britain

Conference in Moscow on Strategy Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill followed up their historic sea conference tonight with a joint proposal to Premier Joseph Stalin that high British and American representatives meet with him in Moscow to discuss allocation of war supplies to the Soviet Union.

(Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, and U. S. Lend-Lease Administrator Harry Hopkins were advanced by informed commentators in London as the No. 1 British-American representatives to meet Stalin.)

The message made public here tonight was delivered to Stalin by the American and British ambassadors in Moscow during the afternoon.

The two leaders of the western powers praised the "splendid defense" of the Soviet Union "against the Nazi attack" and asserted that the United States and Britain were "co-operating to provide you the very maximum of supplies that you urgently need."

More Help Promised.

"Already many shiploads have left our shores and more will leave in the immediate future," the message said.

The President and the prime minister told Premier Stalin that it was necessary to consider a long-term policy because "there is still a long and hard path to be traversed before there can be won that complete victory without which our efforts and sacrifices would be wasted."

They said the war raged now upon many fronts and before it was over "further fighting fronts" may be developed.

It therefore became a question

Ukraine Thrust Checked, Red Reports Hint

Three-Pronged Offensive on Leningrad Loosed by Nazis.

By The Associated Press.

The Germans appeared last night to have loosed a fourth grand offensive centered on the southern, western and northern approaches to Leningrad, while the available evidence indicated that their thrusts into the Ukraine were for the time being at least producing no spectacular results.

Berlin itself had little word to give to general operations in the south other than to repeat the standing claim of some days that pressure was being increased upon the Black sea ports of Odessa and Nikolaev and that the Red retreat was being hampered by violent bombing attack.

(Germany is vainly attempting to demoralize Soviet resistance in the Ukraine by dropping parachutists behind the Red lines as fierce battles rage along the entire 1,800-mile front, a Red communique said, according to the United Press.)

Unofficial quarters in Moscow implied that the current Nazi thrust in the southern theater had been checked.

Oddly, it was the Russian and not the German command which made the first disclosure of a reactivated and heavy Nazi movement on Leningrad, reporting heavy new action about Kakisalmi, 75 miles north of that city, on the Karelian isthmus; about Straya Russa, 150 miles to the southeast, and in the Estonian sector, to the west.

The one great diplomatic subject of the day was the eight-point program for the post-war world agreed upon by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill.

Both the Germans and the Japanese took a much sharper line than previously.

The Japanese newspaper Hochi said the real point of the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting was "materialization of a joint military alliance to aid the Soviet and war against the Axis."

Eight Points Are Bill of Rights For World, Says Miss Thompson

Roosevelt-Churchill Statement Forestalls Any Peace Offensive Hitler May Launch Should He Break Resistance of Russia.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON.

LONDON.—(By Wireless)—The eight points jointly put forward by the prime minister of Great Britain and the President of the United States as a basis of world peace are a revolutionary document. Simple, axiomatic, economical of phraseology, they constitute a bill of rights for nations and for the people in those nations.

They offer no common political formula for all men, but recognize the rights of nations for any form of government they choose, provided they do not seek to impose it upon their neighbors. They recognize that political differences are not incompatible with economic collaboration and that such collaboration, if it be not in the interests of all, must rest upon common standards of labor and social security.

The document again enunciates a common traditional policy of the English-speaking nations, freedom of the seas, and is thoroughly realistic in proposing to disarm aggressors while maintaining sufficient force to protect the aims enunciated until they are transformed into organization and practice.

We may presume also that the points were elaborated after a consultation with the governments of the British commonwealth and the heads of governments in London of the nations overrun by Adolf Hitler. The eight points forestall any peace offensive that might be launched by Hitler should he succeed in breaking the resistance of Russia.

By being generous, realistic and in harmony with the trends of the century toward national freedom, international economic collaboration and social and economic security, they should appeal to all reasonable men in Germany, if any such are left in that unhappy prison of conscience and intelligence.

Yet, one is forced to ask, how are we going to achieve this world of reason and realism, of freedom and order that the points envisage? What are they—platitudes or a fighting, working credo? What are they for—propaganda or mobilization of the will?

One might well ask what right has the United States to propose such a program for the world unless she is willing to spend a fortune and shed blood and stake all upon its realization?

I write this from a country that for a year has held her finger in the dyke against world chaos. A year ago this country lost a war and the whole world was adrift in chaos and despotism and the end

Barking of Dog Saves Boy, 2, From Death

Brother, 16, Applies First Aid To Revive Atlanta Child.

By CELESTINE SIBLEY.

The devotion of a nondescript dog named "Club Foot" and the skill and quick thinking of an older brother are responsible for two-year-old Louie Goodwin being safe at his home on Cascade road today.

Louie was lost. He had been lost for an hour and a half when his big brother, 16-year-old Everett Goodwin, found little barefoot tracks leading to Utoy creek, a mile away.

"I started following them as fast as I could and then I heard 'Club Foot' barking and I started running," Everett related yesterday. "When I got there Louie was floating in the creek and 'Club Foot' was running up and down the bank barking as hard as he could."

Everett plunged into the creek up to his waist, carried his little brother to the shore and started giving him artificial respiration.

"He was unconscious, but I got some of the water out of him and could tell he was breathing, so I stopped and took him home as fast as I could," Everett explained.

Everett learned the technique of administering artificial respiration from his teacher, Mrs. O. M. Mitchell, at Cascade Grammar school, in a Junior Red Cross lifesaving course two years ago.

"I never used it before, but I'm mighty glad I remembered how," grinned Everett yesterday.

Louie, a slender, blue-eyed little boy with a mop of pale gold curus, has a spirit of adventure.

"He's the sixth one I've raised," sighed his mother, Mrs. Goodwin, yesterday, "and he's the first one I've had to chase all the time. I blame part of it on that dog."

Iceland Lanes Without Peril, Knox Declares

Axis Flag, Submarine Have Not Been Seen, Navy Chief Says.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 15.—(UP)—Not a single Axis flag nor submarine has been sighted within the area patrolled by the U. S. navy since the patrol went into effect between the United States and Iceland, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said today at a press conference.

Knox asserted sinking of supplies for Great Britain in the sea lanes between Iceland and the United States has "ceased entirely," and "not a submarine has been heard nor an Axis flag seen in the patrol area."

Knox did not elaborate on working of the United States Atlantic patrol other than to reiterate the words of President Roosevelt that the lines of communication with the Iceland base would be maintained without peril or threat of peril.

(Vote on Peace Plan Desired by Knox. Story on Page 6.)

BERLIN BOMBED.

BERLIN (Saturday), Aug. 16.—(AP)—Red air fleet bombers sent residents of Berlin to shelters last night during an air attack on the capital of the Reich and communities in northeastern and eastern Germany.

Cloudy, Rain Forecast For City Again Today

The highest temperature forecast for today is 86 degrees—and that's three degrees higher than yesterday's hottest point.

More rain and cloudy skies are forecast for today. The Weather Bureau gave yesterday's intermittent showers credit for keeping the mercury down to a point slightly below normal after weeks of abnormally high temperature.

Abolition of Sweat Box, Return Of Stocks in Camps Demanded

Gainesville Man Named Warden of Camp Where Man Died.

By LUKE GREENE.

A return to stocks in Georgia prison camps and abolition of sweat boxes as a means of punishment for prisoners was recommended yesterday by one member of the state prison and parole commission as the legislative investigating committee filed a scathing formal report in which it criticized conditions at the Rising Fawn and Sparta camps and called for a thorough grand jury investigation into the deaths of two prisoners at the Dade county camp.

Meanwhile, two of Georgia's most notorious escape artists, Forrest Turner and S. L. (Slim) Scarborough, were still at large and the manhunt was intensified with posses and bloodhounds. Frank Long, one of the seven who escaped from the Dallas camp Thursday, returned voluntarily yesterday.

Other developments which pointed to a clean-up of prison camps in Georgia follow:

1. Appointment of Hubert Smith, 36, of Gainesville, as warden of the Rising Fawn camp to succeed C. A. Jacobson, who was fired by the Prison and Parole Commission. Well known as the first warden at Georgia's "Little Alcatraz" at Dallas, Smith was given strict orders to "straighten things out" at the Rising Fawn camp.

2. Announcement by Solicitor J. H. Paschall, of the Cherokee circuit, that "if reports are true" he would go to Dade county Monday and ask Sheriff G. C. Tatum to arrest Jacobson on a murder charge.

3. Recommendation by the legislative committee that two officials of the Sparta camp be suspended and that another be temporarily suspended in connection with the death of a Negro, Flam Bell, who allegedly was severely whipped.

4. Announcement by Royal K. Mann, of the Prison and Parole Commission, that he would go to

By AL SHARP.

Carling Dinkler Sr. and Dave Allen were playing golf at Ponte Vedra not so long ago.

A man in the uniform of a draftee was in the foursome.

Mr. Dinkler, thinking about the $21 a month the draftee was drawing, was doing his best to make the "freight" light on the fellow. Every time the draftee knocked a ball into one of the many canals and lagoons which make the course a dub's nightmare, Dinkler would give him a ball.

At the end of the round, the hotel man had won $1.50. After they had dressed, his conscience hurt him about taking the money from a draftee.

So he and Allen went back to invite the draftee to dinner. They didn't want to embarrass him by offering to return his money.

Dinkler nudged Pro Al Nelson and asked, before they approached the draftee with the dinner invitation:

"What did you say that fellow's name was?"

"Walter Chrysler Jr.," replied the pro.

3 New Films Begin Week's Run at Theaters

Other Houses Feature Holdovers for City's Entertainment.

By DUDLEY GLASS.

Three new pictures have started their runs in principal Atlanta theaters, with two hold-overs of successful films.

"Parachute Battalion's" big premiere is all over and the boys from Fort Benning are back at their jumping. The picture will continue at the Fox for a week's run. The picture was reviewed most favorably yesterday by Lee Rogers, who had seen it twice. I liked it, too.

"I'll Wait for You," a delightful comedy with no big names but a pretty romance, is at the Rialto.

"Manpower" has been transferred to the Paramount and "Whistling in the Dark" to the Rhodes. Both were reviewed a week ago. They're entertaining.

ANDY LEARNS ABOUT LIFE IN NEW CHAPTER AT GRAND

There's something about the quiet adventures of the now-famous Hardy family which has a tremendous appeal. Probably because the homely dramas are so natural.

Nothing happens to Andy or the Judge or any of the group which couldn't easily happen to your folks or mine. Just a pleasant, average family in a pleasant, average town. No gunplay, no mysterious poison, no fighting planes, no "triangles."

No, I'm wrong there. "Life Begins for Andy Hardy" introduces a siren who goes after young Andy and almost gets him. She is Patricia Dane, a young woman of exceptional pulchritude.

Andy is graduated from high school. He doesn't know whether to go on to college or hunt a job. He tackles the latter for the summer, lands a place—and meets the city girl who almost—but not quite—makes him forget the girl at home.

Judy Garland, that sweet youngster, is guest star for the third time. She devotes most of her efforts to dragging Andy out of trouble. Lewis Stone, as the Judge; Sara Haden and Fay Holden, of course, are in the cast. So is Ann Rutherford.

It's a most delightful story about most delightful folks.

"I'LL WAIT FOR YOU" IS NEW FEATURE AT RIALTO

Little Virginia Weidler, in her most important role to date, is to me the best thing in "I'll Wait for You," at the Rialto.

Virginia is developing from a bad little girl in pigtails to something of an actress. She is no Bernhardt as yet—but she has the makings of an excellent comedienne.

The story concerns Robert Sterling, a young racketeer, who hides out on a New England farm until something blows over. He meets Marsha Hunt, who is coming along rapidly in pictures, and romance begins. Paul Kelly is the bulldog detective who never abandons the trail.

The regeneration of a boy who has gone wrong is the theme. The drama is enlivened by the city boy's mishaps on a farm.

Several entertaining shorts round out the program.

Benny Strong Will Open at Rainbow Roof

New Floor Show Also Booked in Feature Engagement.

Benny Strong and his 11-piece orchestra along with a sensational new floor show opens an extended engagement at the Atlanta Rainbow Roof tonight, the management announced yesterday.

The popular band leader is no stranger to Atlantans, as he recorded a long engagement at the Rainbow Roof last January and comes direct from the George Washington hotel in Jacksonville, Florida.

Also with the band will be lovely Mary Lou, feminine vocalist; Ben Ribble, with new antics with the trombone, and Vernon Lodge, male vocalist and saxaphone player. Boss Strong also will interpret a few vocals as the show goes along.

An added attraction, the floor show, will show two talented artists, Nadive and Charles, in a musical comedy and tap dance presentations.

GOVERNMENT CHECKS.

CORDELE, Ga., Aug. 15.—The local AAA office announces that $3,000 in cotton stamps were received this week for farmers of Crisp county. The office also announced parity payment checks for 5,000 applications had been received and would also be distributed this week.

Erskine Hawkins To 'Trumpet' Here

Erskine Hawkins, Alabama-born trumpeter and famous for his hit of a few seasons ago, "Tuxedo Junction," will bring his orchestra to Atlanta for a single engagement at the city auditorium August 21.

Other performers that will accompany Hawkins along with the orchestra are Dave Parrish, piano artist; Jimmy Mitchell, tenor saxophonist, and Vocalist Ida James. A reserve section is being provided for white spectators.

OLD FORTIFICATION.

A part of the underwater fortifications used to block the Delaware river to the British fleet during the Revolutionary War have been recovered at Woodbury, N. J. Substantial sections of the fortifications—"Cheveux di Frise"—were brought up by Army engineers dredging the channel.

Gala Occasion Opens Theater At Cedartown

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., Aug. 15.—With all the color and interest usually associated with a "first night," Cedartown's magnificent new motion picture theater, the "West," was formally opened this evening. Every seat was filled, standing room was at a premium and scores of persons were turned away as this newest and most modern unit in the large chain of picture houses owned by the Lam Amusement Company was opened and dedicated to the entertainment interests of this section.

Formal opening ceremonies were directed by officers of the Federated Women's Clubs of Cedartown. Colonel C. C. Bunn, chairman of the city commission, opened the program with a brief address to the management and to the city. He then presented Miss Kate Young, president of the Federated Clubs organization.

Seated on the stage were the presidents of the seven women's organizations comprising the Federation and presidents of the city's three men's civic clubs, Kiwanis, Exchange and Lions. Miss Young presented each of these officers to the audience and then introduced Mrs. H. M. Renner, president of the Legion Auxiliary, who spoke in behalf of all the women's clubs. Judge W. W. Mundy, of the Tallapoosa superior court circuit, spoke on behalf of the men's organizations.

O. C. Lam, president of the Lam Amusement Company, owners, was then presented and spoke briefly in presenting the new theater as an integral part of the city's business life.

Prior to the formal opening, Mr. Lam was host at a golf tournament and barbecue at the Cherokee Country Club. Several hundred guests, including Cedartown citizens and many motion picture executives and theater owners from Georgia and Alabama enjoyed the occasion.

Federal Money for Department Of Public Welfare Is Received

Federal funds for Georgia's Department of Public Welfare came through without a hitch yesterday, which means that the aged, blind and crippled will not have to wait on their pension checks this month.

Welfare officials pointed out the $300,000 allotment already had been received and that the pension checks had been placed in the mails.

In recent months the federal funds have failed to come through on time, necessitating a delay in sending out checks. Last month a stoppage of the funds was threatened when the Social Security Board set a hearing on charges against the state department. However, welfare officials went to Washington and straightened out the tangle.

The fact that funds came through this month without a hold-up, it was said, indicated strongly that all differences between the federal board and the state department had been removed and that the federal money probably would come through without any difficulty in the future.

The welfare department is now proceeding with the establishment of a merit system as required by the Social Security Board.

Coleman Facing Mayhem Count In Assault Case

Members of the solicitor general's office said that mayhem, which carries maximum sentence of life imprisonment upon conviction, was an unusual charge in Georgia courts.

Coleman was indicted also on a charge of assault with intent to murder Lyman, and of robbing the night watchman of his pistol and blackjack valued at $16.50.

Lyman attempted to arrest Coleman on the parking lot which he was employed to watch, it was said, and Coleman took his gun and blackjack away from him and beat out his only good eye.

Atlanta Youth Shot On S. C. Roadside

Joseph Winship Pitts, 17, son of Mrs. Ruby S. Pitts, of 1298 Stewart avenue, S. W., enrolled in a CCC camp near Jacksonboro, S. C., was shot and seriously wounded late Thursday night while standing by a roadside holding a three-foot alligator.

Sheriff B. L. Rhodes, of Colleton county, said a passing motorist, shining his headlamps on the alligator, evidently mistook it for a deer and fired once, then fled.

Pitts was wounded in the foot and the right side. Another passing motorist took Pitts to a Walterboro, S. C., hospital, where his condition was termed "fair," Rhodes said. The youth was enrolled in the CCC here last January and was stationed with Company 5468 near Jacksonboro.

BANK DEPOSITORY.

QUITMAN, Ga., Aug. 15.—The Citizens National Bank of Quitman was this week designated as a state depository. It has been a number of years since Quitman has had a state depository and local tax officials found it most inconvenient. C. M. Hitch, executive vice president of the bank, was in Atlanta last week and worked out details of the transaction.

Miss Schane's Will Leaves Benefit Fund

Building Will Be Memorial to Mother, Mrs. Mary Schane.

The will of Miss Ida Schane, prominent Atlanta woman who died recently, was probated yesterday in DeKalb county ordinary's court, providing certain amounts for her immediate relatives, and the residue for the First Presbyterian church in Atlanta for benefit of the Thornwell Orphanage.

Neither relatives nor her attorneys could give any estimate of the total value of Miss Schane's estate yesterday.

The will provided for the erection of a building at the orphanage as a memorial to her mother, the late Mrs. Mary Schane.

The Trust Company of Georgia was named as executor and trustee of the estate.

Other bequests were: $4 a week for placing flowers on the "Mamie Schane" lot in West View cemetery; $200 a month for Zee Schane; $50 a month to her brother, Charles Schane; the sum of $3,000 to her brother, Frederick Schane; $10,000 for a monument on the "Mamie Schane" cemetery lot; all personal belongings to be divided equally "among her nieces," Elizabeth Young, Winefred Young Bachmann, Mabel Young and Alma Strauchen.

Present Officials Win in Marietta

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

MARIETTA, Ga., Aug. 15.—The present city administration standing for re-election as a unit, was re-elected in today's city primary.

Mayor L. M. Blair and the six councilmen were renamed, three of the councilmen having opposition, one having a close race.

J. H. Groover, of the first ward, received 119 votes and his opponent, John D. Garris, 60; Frank Wellons, in the third ward, received 183 votes, and his opponent, Herbert Sprayberry, 174, the incumbent winning by nine votes. In the fifth ward, Councilman George Thomas won by a vote of 137 to 31 for his opponent, E. Lane Moore.

Councilmen unopposed were W. W. Lee in the second ward; J. W. Lewis in the fourth, and M. T. Abercrombie in the sixth ward.

City Cracks Down On 37 Jaywalkers

The price of jaywalking in Atlanta is $3 if you're caught and haled before Recorder Luke Arnold's court, the recorder said last night.

Forty jaywalkers were arraigned before him yesterday. Of these he let three go without penalty. The others were fined $3 each.

"Many hurt in automobile accidents are pedestrians who do not cross streets at intersections or on traffic lines," said Recorder Arnold. "The jaywalker is a menace to himself."

Few Aircraft Lookouts Now In Southeast

Mitchell County Only Station Organized in Georgia.

Comparatively few civilian aircraft warning stations have been completely organized in the southeastern states, Colonel Irvine F. Belser, acting director of the Fourth Civilian Defense Area, declared yesterday after a survey of the area.

In answer to a letter from Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, national head of civilian defense, Colonel Belser wrote that of Georgia's 1,211 aircraft reporting stations, only Mitchell county is organized; six of Alabama's 710 stations are organized; 670 out of 881 are organized in Florida; 193 out of 699 are sea up in Louisiana; none of 812 are functioning in North Carolina; stations in 76 out of 82 counties are organized in Mississippi; 340 out of 533 are ready in South Carolina, and 900 are in the process of organization in Tennessee.

The colonel said Georgia headquarters informed him the Georgia lookout squads are to be ready by August 21, and that other area officials said organization is progressing.

Efforts are being made to get all aircraft warning stations fully organized and functioning by September in order to practice during the war maneuvers of the Army this fall.

Aircraft warners notify the Army of the appearance and direction of any airplane over the entire area.

Hollywood Stars Leave Atlanta

Atlanta washed up another world premiere of a motion picture yesterday afternoon when the glamorous movie actress, Dorothy Comingore, boarded the westbound plane en route back to Hollywood and a new film assignment.

Traveling with her was Terry Turner, publicity chief of RKO, makers of "Parachute Battalion," the premiere of which Miss Comingore flew east to attend Thursday night.

Atlanta Board Votes Pensions To 14 Teachers

Two Others Retired; Miss Mary Moore Heads List.

Fourteen Atlanta teachers and three others were granted pensions yesterday by action of the city pension board.

Heading the list of well-known teachers pensioned are Miss Mary C. Moore, acting principal of Girls' High school, and Lula M. Johnson, principal of Key school. Both women had been in the city school system for 40 years.

Others with long service in the schools and their last positions included: Miss Inda Harrison, Kirkwood, 19 years; Miss Elizabeth Byrd, Grant Park, 22 years; Mrs. Susie H. Watkins, teacher at Battle Hill, 15 years; Mrs. Wilhelmina L. Gelissen, Bass Junior High, 25 years.

Annabel Horn, head of the Latin department at Girls' High, 28 years; Margaret Thompson, Crew Street school, 40 years; Mrs. Janet M. Galway, Couch school, 25 years; Mrs. O. D. Colvin, Commercial High, 28 1-2 years; Mrs. Mary P. Daniel, Adair school, 28 years, and Rowena Daviddie Mobley, Grant Park school, 39 years.

Hannah E. Buchanan, teacher at Washington High school, 30 years, and Georgia Elizabeth Parks, Ashby school teacher, 26 years, were also retired on pension.

The board granted pensions to Mrs. Anna May Jacks, widow of W. H. Jacks, parks department employe who died recently after 18 years with the city; Henry P. Smith, who served 25 years in the parks department, and John B. Astin, custodian, who served 25 years.

With the exception of the appointment of Miss William Lamar Jeter as acting principal to succeed Miss Moore at Girls' High, the school department has not announced new elections and replacements.

LaGrange Stations Observe Gas Curfew

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Aug. 15.—The curfew for gasoline filling stations is being recognized here with 100 per cent co-operation of the 37 stations, with tanks tightly locked from 7 p. m. until 7 a. m. although officials differ as to the resulting curtailment of gasoline consumption. The five stations previously "open all night" are also co-operating in the new order.

Sunday hours remain the same, from 7 to 11 a. m. and from 1 to 6 p. m.

THEY SWEATED HERE—Into this sweat box at the Rising Fawn prison camp, 22 prisoners were locked and kept for eight hours after they participated in a strike. The small house, which Sheriff H. C. Shelby, of Walker county, is investigating, is seven and one-half feet square and has only two small air vents. A campaign is under way to abolish sweat boxes and substitute a more humane method of punishment.

11 Americans Die as Plane Falls in Britain

Ace Flyer Mackey Erroneously Reported Among Dead.

LONDON, Aug. 15—(AP)—The RAF trans-Atlantic ferry command disclosed today the death of 21 airmen—11 of them Americans—and the Right Honorable Arthur Purvis, Britain's American purchasing agent, in the crash of an America-bound plane almost identical with that which took the same number of lives last Sunday.

At first 12 United States fliers were listed among the dead in the second crash, which occurred shortly after the take-off Thursday. Tonight, however, it was said in London that Captain Joseph C. Mackey, of Kansas City, had not ben aboard, he having been confused with a Canadian radio officer, G. W. Mackay, who was one of those killed.

Captain Mackey was the only survivor of a crash last February in which Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, and two other persons were killed in Newfoundland near the outset of a trans-Atlantic hop.

Seven Americans were killed in the Sunday crash, which was so similar to that of Thursday. Both planes crashed while taking off for America, carrying men to ferry bombers back to the RAF.

The seven American and 15 British victims of last Sunday night's crash were buried this afternoon in a single grave beside a little church on the lonely hillside not far from where they died. They were given naval honors, and the coffins were draped with the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack.

The American victims of yesterday's crash were:

Captain A. C. Earl, Huntington, West Virginia.

Captain M. D. Dilley, Kansas City.

Captain J. J. Kerwin, Oakland, California.

Captain E. B. Anding, Merrick, New York.

Captain M. J. Wetzel, Jamesburg, N. J.

Captain Gerald Hull, Royal Oak, Michigan.

Captain P. F. Lee Jr., Frederick, Maryland.

Flying Officer E. W. Watson, Torrence, Cal.

Flight Engineer R. F. Davis, Seattle, Wash.

Purvis, who was 51, was a prominent Canadian industrialist appointed by the British government last January to head the supply council. A month before he had been named to the privy council in recognition of his work as director-general of the British purchasing commission.

In Washington, his aides estimated that he had contracted for more than $3,000,000,000 of cash purchases and had played an important part in arranging billions more of supplies under the lend-lease law.

Milk Probes Scheduled

The city health and sanitation committee is going to investigate the milk situation in Atlanta Monday, Mayor LeCraw announced yesterday, while the State Milk Control Board is planning a meeting for Tuesday at which time it will decide whether a three-cent per quart increase in the price of milk will be granted.

LeCraw invited Charles Duncan, director of the milk control board, to meet with him and the council committee at 11 o'clock at the city hall.

The meeting will precede the regular council session at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

Opposing any increase in the milk price, LeCraw said the city will consider the possibility of banning all raw milk for sale within the city if the price hike is made.

Drop Sweat Box, Return Stocks, Leaders Urge

Dallas today to investigate the series of breaks there.

Mann said the Prison and Parole Commission probably would meet Monday to decide whether sweat boxes would be abolished and indicated there would be another shake-up in prison personnel at some of the camps.

"I am heartily in favor of doing away with sweat boxes," Mann asserted. "I believe that some form of punishment, such as depriving the prisoners of such special privileges as getting mail and mingling with the other prisoners, would be sufficient for 90 per cent of them. I think probably the best punishment for the other 10 per cent would be to place them in stocks."

Attention was centered on the inhumanity of sweat boxes when a Negro, Lewis Gordon, died at the Rising Fawn camp after Warden Jacobson placed 22 Negroes in solitary confinement for eight hours after they participated in a mutiny. Three others were shot during the strike.

Stocks were last used about 1936, Mann said. He pointed out that sweat boxes could never be termed humane because they either were too hot in the summer or too cold in the winter.

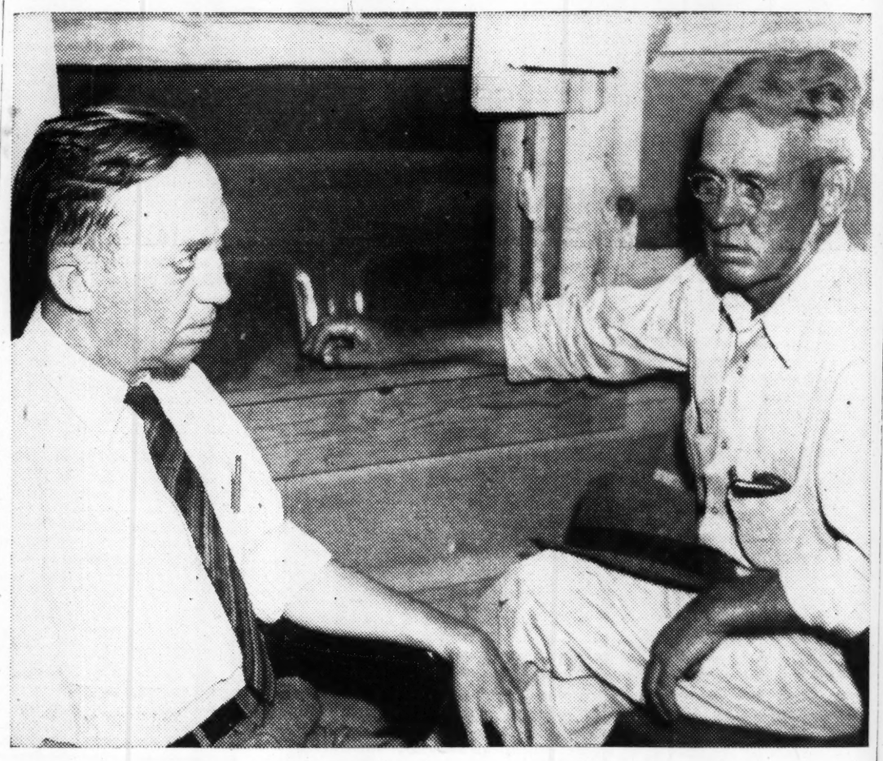

Representative H. B. Smith, of Winder, a member of the House Penitentiary Committee and brother of the new warden at Rising Fawn, agreed with Mann that stocks would be better than the present method of punishment. Representative Smith has had considerable experience as a warden.

Senator Hiles Hamilton and Representative Mack Hicks, Floyd county members of the legislative Prison Committees, yesterday called on the Governor and the Prison Commission to abolish sweat boxes immediately.

Senator R. E. Cannon, of Clayton, vice chairman of a legislative investigating committee, revealed that at least two wardens of Georgia prison camps were ex-convicts themselves.

Cannon did not identify the wardens, but said the committee would include its findings on the two wardens in a later general report on conditions existing under Georgia's penal system.

Members of the house and senate investigating committees termed conditions at the Dade county camp "in a very bad state."

Constitution Staff Photos—George McCrary.

"IT WAS TOO HOT . . ."—"I realized it was too hot for them after it was all over," former Warden C. A. Jacobson, right, told Chairman Clem Rainey, of the State Prison and Parole Commission, in describing how he placed 22 Negroes in a sweat box at the Rising Fawn camp and kept them for eight hours. A legislative committee severely criticized this practice in its report yesterday. Jacobson was fired by the prison commission after an investigation by Rainey and Commissioner Royal K. Mann.

They said they had found several prisoners who had been "severely beaten" and that others had been kept in a sweat box "beyond the length of time that we think would be humane treatment to anyone."

They quoted Dr. S. B. Kitchens, of LaFayette, doctor assigned to the camp, as saying the prisoners were "overworked or underfed."

A number of the prisoners, they said, were afraid to talk through fear of being punished.

In concluding their report on this case, the committee recommended that the Dade county grand jury investigate the deaths of Gordon and Arvie Moore.

As to the Sparta camp in Hancock county, the committee members said that "from evidence taken from numerous prisoners in the Sparta camp, we find strong evidence that Flam Bell came to his death by severe whipping by a person known as Boss Alvin Johnson."

The legislators recommended the immediate suspension of Johnson and Dr. E. H. Hutchings, camp physician, as well as other camp officials "connected with this brutal beating." They recommended the temporary suspension of Warden N. A. Compton until the matter could be cleared up.

The committee reported it had investigated the death of A. T. Jean, alias "Pee Wee" Burns, at Tattnall and found the report of the coroner's jury to be true that Burns "came to his death in a brawl after he and other prisoners had seized and drunk a mixture of grain and rubbing alcohol."

They added conditions were excellent at Tattnall.

Experienced in Work.

In appointing Smith to take charge of the camp at Rising Fawn, commission officials pointed out that he recently had been connected with the Harris county highway camp and had been a warden for five years. Previously he was connected with the State Highway Department as a shovel operator.

As the new warden at Rising Fawn, Smith will take charge of a camp sprawled on the side of Lookout Mountain between LaFayette and Trenton. Its squatty buildings are situated almost on the edge of the new Ed Rivers highway, which winds its way through the picturesque mountain country, forming the only direct connection between Dade county and the rest of Georgia.

Few citizens of Georgia know how the prisoners live inside one of these camps. The first notice you have of the camp as you whiz northward on the smooth strip of asphalt is a sign on the side of the road which says:

"Keep out, by order of the State Highway Board."

To former Warden C. A. Jacobson that sign was to be taken literally. When newspapermen and photographers passed through the camp he promptly ordered them out. But when two members of the State Prison and Parole Commission arrived it was a different story.

After the hearing at which Jacobson admitted he crammed 22 Negro prisoners into a single sweat box seven and one-half feet square and that one died a few hours after they were removed, Chairman Clem Rainey and Commissioner Royal K. Mann went through the camp.

Barracks Inspected.

They stopped first in the barracks where the whites are fenced in on one side and the Negroes on another. There was a foul odor in the place. The showers and commodes were situated out in the middle of the barracks with no protecting walls around them. The floor around them was damp.

The prisoners sat or sprawled on dirty, crumpled beds. Three Negro prisoners lay with their legs bandaged, the victims of shots fired by former Warden Jacobson and Foreman Roy M. Whitehead during a mutiny of approximately 25 prisoners.

Commissioner Mann went inside the Negro quarters, locked the door behind him. He went up to several prisoners and asked them what was the trouble.

Convicts' Story.

He lifted up the dingy covers and looked at the wounds of one Negro. Mann asked him why he went on a strike. The Negro said the guards were working him too hard.

Mann asked if the prisoners got plenty to eat. Back of him one Negro sprang up in his bed like a "jack-in-the-box," and cried, "No, sir, boss, I don't get enough to eat."

Back of the barracks are two little houses facing each other which look like undersized chicken houses. These are the dungeons or sweat boxes, one for the whites and one for the Negroes.

The outside walls of these "sweat boxes" are covered with black tar paper. Each house has a small door which is closed when the prisoners are locked, making the inside dark. There are only two air vents, each about four by six inches which open into something that resembles a chimney.

Symptoms of Deeper Ills

Lewis Gordon, Negro convict at the Rising Fawn camp in Dade county, is dead. He was smothered when he and 21 other prisoners were kept in a "sweat box," measuring only 7½ feet in each dimension, for seven or eight hours.

The coroner's jury found that Gordon came by his death "due to cruel and inhuman treatment at the hands of the warden of this camp."

The warden, C. A. Jacobson, has been fired by the State Prison and Patrol Board. The sheriff of Dade county has said he will take no further action in the case, leaving it to the September grand jury to indict the warden if it desires.

A joint committee from both houses of the state legislature had visited the Rising Fawn camp last Monday and reported it found conditions there "very bad." Convicts to whom the committee members had spoken voiced fears for their safety if they told what they knew. Committee members later recognized these convicts among the 22 who had been incarcerated in that "sweat box."

The legislative committee also visited the camp at Sparta and stated, after investigation, that a Negro convict there, Flam Bell, died as the result of a beating.

These horrors have shocked every decent person in Georgia. They uncover conditions which most people had believed had long been abolished. Whipping of convicts and the use of barbarous modes of punishment, such as the "sweat boxes" were believed to have been forbidden in Georgia prisons and convict camps many years ago.

Undoubtedly many prisoners are difficult to control. It is explained that the outrage at the Dade county camp followed a mutiny by 25 convicts, three of whom were shot and wounded by the warden and a guard. A member of the State Prison Board has advised convicts against further mutinies, telling them to write any complaints they have to make to the board. Whether or not such written complaints would receive adequate attention, however, is to be doubted. Also it is difficult for a Negro prisoner, not unlikely an illiterate, to write a convincing letter and, having written it, to make sure it is properly addressed and mailed.

What must be remembered by Georgians, if such outrages as these are not to recur, is that they are, actually, only the symptoms of a deep-rooted disease.

Regardless of the crime committed, when the state takes charge of a convict, it not only assumes a responsibility to society, to see that convict serves his term in accordance with the orders of the court. It assumes, also, a responsibility to the convict himself. That responsibility includes the duties of maintaining him in good health, of providing him with proper opportunities for reformation and of protecting him against such brutalities as have occurred at Sparta and in Dade county.

Primarily it is the duty of the State Prison and Parole Board to see that Georgia prisons and camps are properly and humanely conducted. It is the duty of that board to remember, at all times, its responsibility to the prisoners as well as to the state at large.

There are many well-run, humane convict camps in Georgia. But there are too many where prisoners are treated like vicious animals and where brutalities and tortures reminiscent of the middle ages are still practiced.

Such things as "sweat boxes" are beyond the pale in a civilized state. They should be, and must be, abolished at once. Together with any other instruments of torture of like severity.

It takes all sorts to make world history. Thus, Washington couldn't tell a lie, while Adolf has the Russian Army annihilated on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

America speaks! Answer the call of your country by buying defense savings bonds and stamps for its protection and defense.

Amazed correspondents who chatted with the Nazi airman, Udet, in Berlin, found him as alive and well as an annihilated Russian army.

That Temperature!

It is no exaggeration to state that hundreds of persons in Atlanta got a great deal of satisfaction the other day. For it's not often most folks get a chance to say, "I told you so." Yet that's exactly what happened when the weatherman broke down and admitted what the sweltering Man in the Street suspected all the time—the temperature is 110 degrees!

Of course, of coursed the Weatherman, shying back a bit, it's not that high on the official records and not according to the official thermometer high atop the new post office building, where the cool breezes play. But on the sidewalk where the sun beats down and the tall buildings shut off the breeze, it surely gets that high.

"If you stuck a thermometer in your hatband and walked around in the sun all afternoon I'm sure you'd find it registered 110 degrees," said an attache of the weather office. "If you put the thermometer on the sidewalk and left it there, it would probably register 120 degrees, but by walking around with it in your hatband you'd give it enough circulation to cool it off a little."

Now there, brother, is really something! No wonder grins broke out all over town, and folks said, "Shucks, I knew it all the time." Thanks, Mr. Weatherman, for confirming so many convictions and thus making so many persons happy—even in this heat.

America is in a state of emergency. Every citizen is urged to do his part by buying defense savings bonds and stamps.

All Those Prisoners

Those figures, mounting into the millions, which the Germans announce every day or two, as to the number of prisoners captured in the war against Russia, seem too tremendous to be true. As a matter of fact, they may be true, under the German system of computation, yet totally misleading to our understanding of war statistics.

For it is the German custom to count as prisoners of war, not only the regular enemy troops captured, but all the civilians in occupied territory, as well. Excuse for this, of course, is the contention that every Russian, soldier or civilian, is engaged in guerrilla warfare against the common enemy.

It is, however, well to remember, when we read the German claims as to the capture of two or three million Russians, that this total may include a comparatively small number of members of the Soviet army, and be made up, mainly, of civilians in territories occupied by advancing units of the Nazi army.

On such a basis for computation, if the Germans attacked America and managed to occupy the state of Florida, they would announce the capture of some two million prisoners, which is approximately the population of that state. But it would by no means indicate that 2,000,000 men of the armed forces of this country had been taken out of the nation's defense.

While Washington swelters, the pictures show us Harry Hopkins wearing his overcoat in Moscow as if he were in Duluth.

Those Peaches

Word keeps coming in to us that even now, with more peaches than the market can absorb, it has been impossible to obtain peaches of good quality, and in some instances impossible to obtain any peaches of any quality, in many sections of Georgia.

From other states in the Union comes word there is a demand for peaches. But no peaches. Hotels in other states cannot offer peaches on menus because they can't get them. Neither can dealers.

The Georgia Association of Peach Growers assuredly will go to work on a study of the problems of distribution. The growers cannot remain at the mercy of the present system. It is but an illustration of our lack of organization that the producer should have no voice at all in distribution.

It again has been demonstrated that the Georgia peach is suitable for canning; that it makes the ideal peach pickle; that it makes superior preserves. More canning companies can be induced to establish branches or new industries in Georgia.

That will help. The big problem is for growers somehow to obtain some voice in distribution.

"I'm slipping," says honest Joe Louis. It is a disheartening discovery for any champ, as when Hitler hits them and they still stand up.

Georgia Editors Say:

HOME MARKETS

(From The Elberton Star.)

Within 100 miles of the peach centers were potential customers who were not looked after in the marketing of the crop. Had the home markets, small towns, been looked after, there might not have been such a big loss in the crop. It is too often the case when we have something to sell we overlook the home market and see gold in the bigger and far-off fields. Elbert county has the finest granite in the world, yet every few days some one in Georgia is found who never heard of it. The moral is to start at home and then spread out.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

NEW CONCEPT OF PEACE WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Back of the eighth point contained in the joint declaration of principles proclaimed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill after their dramatic, history-making meeting at sea, lies a new concept of world peace which has been incubating in London and Washington for many months.

It is a concept based on the enforced disarmament of those nations "which threaten, or may threaten, aggression outside of their frontiers," to quote a part of the language of the eighth and final point of the joint declaration.

The idea has been one to engage the objective attention of our own government heads ever since war developments took a turn to indicate the probability of our being drawn into the second European conflict within a generation. Mr. Roosevelt particularly is known to have given it earnest thought. Certainly, as the joint declaration shows, it must have crept into the crowded hours of Mr. Churchill in considering post-war plans.

There will probably be no amplification of the eighth point until the sixth point—"after the final destruction of Nazi tyranny"—is attained. But the meaning of the President and the Prime Minister is clear in those circles familiar with preliminary discussions that have taken place on plans for a more permanent world peace, once a victory over the Axis powers is achieved.

TO PREVENT REPETITION The heads of the two great English-speaking nations undoubtedly have in mind going far beyond the limits of the enforced disarmament program applied to Germany and her allies after the last World War. If the United States and Great Britain are forced into a union to free the world of Nazi domination and succeed, it is safe to predict that the determination of the President and Prime Minister will not stop short of more adequate measures for preventing a repetition of what is now taking place.

Not only will Germany and the other Axis partners be completely disarmed as regards military, naval and air forces, but a system of international policing will be established within their borders to see that no war munitions plants are maintained through subterfuge. It contemplates that no mistake of the German occupation of the Ruhr will be permitted again.

The Roosevelt-Churchill concept for permanent peace follows the reasoning that great nations, like great cities, have their elements of lawlessness that must be curbed if peaceful enterprise is to be maintained. It requires no imagination to see what would happen in a city like Atlanta if the police force were suddenly abandoned.

EXAMPLE OF BOSTON What happened under similar circumstances in Boston not many years ago is a fair example for the rest of the country. Robberies, rape, murder and general vandalism was the order of the day.

In a sense the same measure of police protection against disturbing world peace must be applied to the aggressor, trouble-making nations. Germany, Italy and Japan, the President believes, have shown themselves to be the chief offenders in this category. Directly or indirectly, they have had a hand in nearly every act of war that has been committed since the treaty of Versailles more than 20 years ago.

If there is criticism among other nations of Great Britain and the United States setting themselves up as the police power of the world, Mr. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill might well ask who other than the two great English-speaking nations are more competent to assume the responsibility of such a role.

UNDER JOINT GUIDANCE But the enforced disarmament scheme, as it is visualized here in Washington, does not contemplate the exclusive use of American and British forces in maintaining world peace. The program would merely be under our joint guidance, with the other nations invited to contribtue their part. A new sort of League of Nations revolving around the determination of at least two of the foremost world powers to guarantee peace.

The history of the world, with its intermittent wars coming with more severity in each generation, is sufficient incentive for the ambitious scheme the President and the Prime Minister evidently have in mind. There is no reason why it should not succeed as well as the policing of the world's great cities, where riots and uprisings occur periodically but are always short-lived.

The appeal the plan should have to peace-loving nations of the world comes from prospect it offers for lightening the crushing burden of armaments the people have to bear in building defenses against threatened aggression.

It is a plan that may mark a fateful moment in the history-recording meeting between the President and the British government head.

SILHOUETTES

Au Revoir, For Vacation Time.

By the time most of you are reading this, the Jones family will be well started on the long-anticipated vacation trip. If things have gone according to plan, we shall have left the old homestead at 6 o'clock this morning and, by the time most of you are settling down to the day's work we should be well up in north Georgia.

The column will not be here until my return, about September 1. Unless I run into something so interesting on the trip that I just can't wait that long to tell you about it. In that case I'll wire it in.

We have packed those things we must take, but have curtailed the baggage to the smallest possible dimensions. The car has been thoroughly checked and serviced and we should have no mechanical troubles. The route, generally speaking, is laid out. And we've set out an expense budget that I hope we don't have to exceed.

We are economizing on gasoline, too. For, while we expect to drive more than 3,000 miles, there are five of us going which, for one car, is compressing vacation gasoline use rather well. We think.

The Route We Plan.

We are driving north by way of Asheville, Johnson City, and up through the Shenandoah valley. Including the Skyline drive. Then we go almost direct to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Cross into Canada there, with first important stop Toronto. Have some visits to make in that city.

Then we'll go along the lake shore to Kingston, Picton and Prince Edward county, which were stamping grounds of my carefree bachelor youth.

Then up to Ottawa, for some more visits. Back to the lake and the St. Lawrence and eastward to Montreal. From Montreal we are coming back, by way of the Adirondacks and the Hudson valley.

We don't plan to stop in New York at all. But the son of the family has been sent, as a recent draftee, to Camp Monmouth, which is somewhere in New Jersey, about 25 miles from New York city. So, if we can, we'll locate that camp and try to call on him.

Then down to Washington, where we plan to spend a day or two, and hence home. Due back not later than September 1.

Generally speaking, I've been over most of that territory before, but some of it is so long ago it will all be new again. It is, for instance, 30 years or more since I was in Canada. For the rest of the party, however, nearly all of it will be new.

Canadian Exchange.

I've been informed on some things about wartime Canada and expect to learn more.

I understand our dollar is now worth about $1.10 in Canadian money. Which means about 11 per cent discount on anything we may buy there.

Gasoline, they tell me, is 33 cents a gallon, Canadian. Which equals about 26 or 27 cents a gallon, American. Their gallons are larger than ours, you know.

Friend who recently returned from there, says the Canadian gasoline is not quite as good as ours. He drives one of those heavy cars. In the United States he averaged about 13.5 miles per gallon. In Canada, only 12 miles.

It is a trip to which we've long looked forward. I was a little doubtful, during recent sickness, if I'd be fit to take it, but the doctor says go ahead and he expects it will do me a lot of good. Only remember to take it easy and let someone else do most of the driving.

All right. I'll sit quietly in the car and let other members of the family do the chauffeuring.

And, added to the anticipated delights of the trip, is the satisfaction of knowing we are doing a little bit to help both Canada and our own country in the war emergency.

For the few dollars we'll spend in Canada will contribute that much to Canadian exchange with this country, which simply means the ability to buy a little more American-made munitions of war—which helps both of us.

I'll Be Telling You.

Am anticipating some good column material out of the trip. So, I'll be trying to tell you, as completely and as entertainingly as I can, after we're home again.

In the meantime, au revoir and keep in the middle of the road 'till we return.

Word Stories

By W. Worthington Wells

"He smiled in a strange little DEPRECATORY way," was a sentence used in a tale by a famous New York magistrate.

DEPRECATORY

Deprecatory is an adjective pronounced DEP-re-ca-TO-ry with the primary accent on the first syllable and a secondary accent on the fourth. The first syllaole (DEP) is pronounced the same as (dep) in deputy, the (o) in the fourth is like that in note. To pronounce this word correctly every syllable must be distinctly articulated.

Deprecatory is easy to pronounce and will be just as easy to use in your conversation. A deprecatory smile is one which registers mild disapproval, like that when a father corrects a child for something which he (the father) does not quite disapprove of but thinks it would be to the child's advantage if he did not form such a habit. It is sometimes used instead of apologetic, as: Humble and deprecatory entreaties.

The definition shown here is that of its most frequent usage but an unabridged dictionary will assist you in determining still further use of the word.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The opinions expressed by Mr. Pegler in this column are his own and do not necessarily represent the opinion of The Atlanta Constitution.

Certain Types NEW YORK, Aug. 15. It is all very well to pretend to abhor distinctions, but there are certain types of people whose conduct and manners, say what you will, tend to give a neighborhood a certain name, once they get in. I don't suppose I have to come right out and say what type I mean, do I? Vulgar, noisy, arrogant, horribly ill-mannered and offensively rich. You know the type, surely.

Now, up in Westchester county, in the region of long ridges, leafy valleys, hidden lakes and Long Island sound shoreline, north of New York, we have been, thank goodness, generally free of this menace, barring a few little alarms. We all realize what might happen to property values if persons of this sort ever should gain a foothold in any number and the country clubs, yacht clubs and each clubs have been very careful, you may be sure. And one of our strongest bulwarks against undersirables has been the fine social stock of our exclusive suburbs, peopled mainly by very well-to-do brokers, lawyers, industrialists and the like. You can always be sure that they will resolutely and effectively oppose any invasion by the wrong kind, with their raucous ostentation and rudeness.

Society Column Fortunately, I say, Westchester county has seemed to attract just the right sort and I know of no more telling way of depicting the restrained but merry fun and jovial good manners of people who bear extreme wealth with extreme grace than to quote for you something from our society column. This little article, written by Miss Patricia Coffin, was carried Wednesday evening and in citing from it I have the additional purpose of shaming the crass and blatant types who do not know how to behave and always tend to give a resort or neighborhood a bad name.

"Society Goes Slapstick," is the heading over Miss Coffin's memorandum to the lower orders on an evening of merrymaking by their betters. Then she relates as follows:

"The pie-tossing party which disrupted the routine merrymaking of John Perona's Westchester Bath Club in the wee hours the other a. m., started with a little innocent roll-throwing at Mr. Perona's weekly outdoor barbecue dinner, which was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. Putnam Humphrey, Mary Jane Walsh, Woolworth Donahue, Clementine Ballin, Arturo Ramos, Macoco and Orchestra Leader Ernie Holst. Rain early in the evening drove the party into the club, where Mr. Ramos, ex-husband of Millicent Rogers Balcom, bet Put Humphrey $20 that he could not pyramid three tables and a chair and surmount the pile.

Tossing the Pie "Put did, whereupon Ramos doused him with selzer water. Woolie Donahue got a siphon and joined the fray. As a waiter passed bearing a blackberry pie (it is rumored that he was bribed to do so by a spectator), Mrs. Dresser, the former Marion Snowden, seized the confection and hurled it into Ramos' face.

"Ostensibly, she came to the club to sell tickets for the Hospital Relief Futurity race at Belmont Park on the last day of the fall meet, October 4. Her husband won $12,000 on the race last year. After Mr. Ramos had distributed the remains of the pie over his friends' evening clothes, they wound up slipping shaved ice down each other's backs.

"'Good clean fun,' said Host Perona."

It hardly needs to be said that the Westchester Bath Club is regarded as a very desirable adjunct to the social life of our county and of Greenwich, Conn., close by, from which community it draws not a little of its clientele, because the guests, though rich and hearty, are never vulgar but unfailingly refined, never ill-mannered or noisy, and present at all times the unmistakable signs of that good breeding to which the undesirable type never can aspire. Of course, the undesirable types sometimes do try to imitate their betters when they go out to rejoice by night, but they only succeed in being ill-bred, coarse and offensive.

There is an elegant way and there is a low and vulgar way to squirt a siphon or throw a blackberry pie or smear pie over the evening clothes of a company of merrymakers. Westchester county and Greenwich are fortunate, indeed, in the high quality of their fun-loving mischief-makers, although at Coney Island or in Bridgeport, the same aristocrats performing the same pranks might be tossed out of a clam-joint or log-cabin as wholly undesirable.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

MAX SCHMELING I see where Max Schmeling, the German prize fighter and one-time world champion, is back at his castle-like home, a new iron cross pinned on his uniform.

Mr. Bill Cunningham, of The Boston Herald, quoted Jack Sharkey, the Boston tavern owner and himself a former champion, as saying that Max Schmeling was "one guy who ought to open his window every morning, stick his head out and sing, very loudly indeed, 'God Bless America.' "There," concluded Mr. Sharkey, "is a guy who ought to be able to sing it with fervor."

In this I concur. Entirely.

I remember the day the word came from London that Max Schmeling had been killed in Crete. The report said he was a parachuter and had been wounded and died. An Englishman who knew him gave out the report.

I remember I put a fresh sheet of paper in the machine and sat there for a moment or so. The words wouldn't come.

I had known Schmeling pretty well. I had spent some little time with him on occasions in years gone by. I liked him rather well, but never had any sort of enthusiasm for him. He was, out of the ring, just as he was in it; methodical and a bit dull. He did have what the boys call a Sunday punch in his right hand.

I recall many pleasant hours in his cottage at his camp before he fought the late W. L. Stribling. I liked his manager, Joe (I Should Have Stood in Bed) Jacobs. I'd seen Schmeling in later years.

So, when the word came he was dead I wanted to write something. And I couldn't.

I just sat there and after a while I took out the paper and started on a new subject. I think it was about a new success by the FSA in rehabilitating some farmers out of the ragged-edge of sharecropping.

NEVER A GREAT CHAMPION I'm glad I didn't. I was glad that day and next when I read all the sugary pieces written about him. He didn't really rate those sweet, sentimental pieces.

He came to this country as a hungry, moneyless young German. Joe Jacobs earned his name "The Muscle" by muscling in on Schmeling's manager and stealing the fighter for his very own meal ticket. A good meal ticket, too, as it turned out.

Schmeling made a fortune. He spent very little of it in this country. He made a very good fortune. He came back often and added to it. All of it went back to Germany. He built his castle with lakes and a golf course. He married a movie star, and life was very comfortable for him.

When the Nazis came along he was on the right side. Hitler took him for his value as a propaganda man. The world knew Schmeling. I recall that Joe Jacobs went over to Germany to handle Schmeling in a fight at Berlin. He was photographed holding up his hand in the Nazi salute, standing in the ring with Schmeling and some German notables. The New York press tried to make a traitor out of Joey. He laughed it off.

"Already," he said, "there was plenty of dead herring in Germany. I should smell from it."

I never really believed Max Schmeling was a real parachute jumper. Maybe he was. He had courage. But Max was well past 30. And parachute troopers have to have younger legs than that. The legs of a man going on toward 40 can't stand up under those jumps. The rubber is gone out of his knee joints at 37. His bones are not so resilient.

Well, anyhow, I'm glad I didn't write my piece. I thought about him making all he had in this country. I thought about the people being swell to him. He never repaid them. Not once. He went back to Germany and enthusiastically went to work for one of the greatest foes the ordinary man ever had.

I agree with Jack Sharkey. There is one guy who ought to start off every day singing "God Bless America." With a lot of fervor, too.

A STOMACH-ACHE The official German version now is that Schmeling came floating down with the paratroops, found some chocolate which the English had abandoned, ate some, and was taken down with a severe stomach-ache.

He was evacuated to a hospital at Athens and from there back home. Just why a stomach-ache merits the iron cross I don't know.

He wasn't much of a champion, either. He won the title lying on the floor. He is the only heavyweight to win the title lying on the floor. His honors come to him oddly.

When Gene Tunney retired there were some fights to determine the titleholder. Sharkey and Schmeling met for the title. Sharkey was away out in front when he hit a blow which knocked Schmeling down. Schmeling was writhing around, looking pained. Joe Jacobs leaped into the ring and started calling upon the gods and the judges for justice. There was a great hub-bub and it ended with the writhing Schmeling being given the title on a foul. Sharkey always insisted the blow was right on the waistline.

He took all that money back to Germany and got to be a fast friend of Adolf Hitler well before that murderer came to power. Now he gets an iron cross for a stomach-ache.

I'm glad I didn't write that piece the day the false report of his death came in. I'd rather have written this one.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Red-Headed Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

My Dear Louise:

You can't judge a traveler's achievement by where he is unless you know where he started.

And you youngsters who scold your elders for making such a mess of civilization should at least give them credit for improvements made along with the mess. The picture isn't all black.

A recent reprint of a Leslie's Weekly illustration shows how people pleasured themselves on Coney Island in the seventies. Scattered through the crowd are several small donkeys, evidently rented by some concessionaire. They are ridden by dressed-up children, and each is followed by a loping plug-ugly who swing an inch-thick club to keep the little beast from stalling.

The stubborn inertia of donkeys is proverbial, but imagine what a howl there would be and how quickly the S. P. C. A. would go into action if animals of any kind were belabored with clubs at a modern resort.

Even I can remember when it was not uncommon to see men beating their horses. And while that was going on, almost every community had at least one citizen who exercised the privilege of beating his wife and children as the climax of his regular Saturday night drunk.

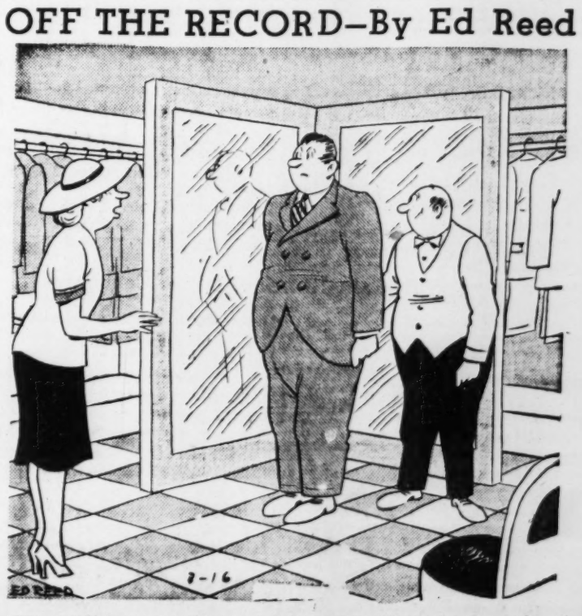

Life was harder for everybody than it is now, but especially so for women. A dutiful wife was one who kept house and did the sewing, mending, cooking and washing for a family of seven, and she did it all the hard way. She had no electrical gadgets to do the work.

A little earlier, when Dickens made his first visit, children 8 years old worked in mills and men worked 12 hours a day—most of them for less than $6 a week. When a poor man bought a "Sunday suit," he expected it to last the rest of his life.

The point is that civilization has improved in countless ways, making life better for each generation in turn, and your faulty elders did their share of the improving.

Love, DAD.

OFF THE RECORD—By Ed Reed

"It won't be too tight very long, dear—the way groceries are going up."

Dudley Glass

Mr. Reeves Views With Alarm Gene's Perhaps Newspaper.

"Governor to start local paper if Atlanta newspapers don't 'get right.'"—News Item.

Woodman, woodman, spare that tree, don't take its pulp for papers. We read enough of printed stuff, opinions, news and vapors, of wasting farms, of war's alarms of bombs and people crippled, where sudden death comes with each breath and earth with blood is stippled.

Each breakfast hour we do devour the news with eggs and bacon, at lunch we dash to eat our hash and find what news is breakin'. With awe and fear we read and hear of "furriners" around us; at night we wake from sleep and shake from dreams that they have found us.

We read the news and get the blues to find our founts of learning are in the mix of politics while Georgia's ears are burning. The ghostly groans and rattling bones of skeletons alarm us and lots of news which we diffuse does nothing much but harm us.

The daily sheets that hit our streets can mostly be relied on, although we find they're not designed for selfish folks to ride on. But, if you please, let's save the trees, go on a pulpless diet—conceal the bones and still the groans and keep the whole thing quiet.

—OLLIE REEVES.

Out of the Basket.

My wire desk basket—not a wastebasket but rather a tray—does accumulated letters. Many of them should be answered and others need not. Somebody just wanted to get something out of his system. And feels better after writing out his complaint, even though he knows it will get him nowhere.

I've just been digging into the more recent missives and am impressed, not for the first time, with my ignorance of all things useful. I have a vast fund of wholly useless information but none I could peddle to a tycoon who might wish to employ an expert.

Just for instance, the same college student who wanted to know all about the bull which gave milk says he would appreciate it if I would tell him the consumed tonnage of coal at the University of Georgia. He doesn't specify per week or month or year—or which year. Or whether he means the university at Athens or all the units contained in the vast University System.

I ought to know the answer. A good newspaper man should know all the answers. But that one stumped me.

I could call up Chancellor Sanford—and learn he's in Washington. I could call up President Caldwell and discover he was delivering an address and wouldn't like to be interrupted. Then I could call up the university's auditor. If I could catch him he'd probably tell me he'd check up on the figures and write me a letter. And just about that time The Constitution's checker-upper on expenses would have something to say about long-distance charges.

Perhaps it would be better for my young correspondent to take up this matter directly with the university.

That Time Element.

Digging further into correspondence, I find Mrs. Clyde K. Belcher, of Whigham, Ga., wants to know why her "four o'clocks" are not blooming this year. I've referred that to the garden editor but in the meanwhile I might suggest her flowers have got all mixed up over eastern, standard and daylight saving times and are waiting to know just when 4 o'clock comes. I may be in error, but that's the best I can do.

From my old friend William Newton, expert linotypist and a most well-informed student of many subjects, comes a clipping from The Constitution's want ad columns, in which a Connecticut resort expresses a desire for five exceptionally good-looking, intelligent waitresses—five feet, six inches, size 16, to serve distinguished clientele."

Mr. Newton wonders whether New England hasn't enough girls of those specifications to supply the demand. And very rightly remarks if we have 'em in Georgia we ought to keep 'em here. Well, there's nothing I can do about that.

From East Point, on our outskirts, J. P. Kemp writes to ask about a point of etiquette — how to act and what to say when a friend tells a fish story impossible to believe. I don't know the answer to that one, either. My personal way out is to start a story about the intelligence of my dog. That usually causes an adjournment.

Did you hear the one about the down-and-out ventriloquist who found a fine job at last—selling talking parrots for a pet shop? Well, that's all there is to it.

For Beauty and Food.

Couple of practical folks are Paul and Mildred Seydel, who have graded and landscaped a large and beautiful garden out at their home on Paces Ferry road. With lawns and vistas and a summer house and all that.

And of course, flowers. A lot of flowers which I can't remember the names of. I never can. In beds and borders and here and there.

But the practical part of it is that the garden is also full of vegetables.

Tomatoes and green peppers and cabbages and radishes and perhaps potatoes and onions—I hope there are onions—and all kinds of things to eat. And all doing well and probably not costing much more to raise than super-store prices.

To my uneducated eye the vegetables look just as beautiful as the flowers. In fact, more lovely, because it was approaching dinner time when I strolled through the garden.

"Mildred, dear, what are those beautiful green plants with the spreading leaves?"

"Those are cabbages."

BOTTLENECK BUSTERS—Knowing first hand that an Army without a band is like an officer with no brass buttons, Mrs. M. J. Blew, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Blew, of the Fourth Corps Area, starts the ball rolling for one of Atlanta's biggest dances of the season by buying a ticket from Mrs. Walter Arch and Mrs. Howard Pattillo, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, for Tuesday night's benefit dance at the city auditorium to buy needed instruments for the Fort McPherson band. Patriotic Atlantans who wish to make Fort Mac's outfit one of the snappiest in the nation and who have instruments collecting dust up in the attic may get in to the dance by contributing them to this worthy cause. The army just needs some help for its band.

Student Offers Novel Method In Band Drive

Pastes Dime on Card To Aid Campaign for Instruments.

L. M. Hewitt, Atlanta dental student, of 301 Prospect Place, N. E., has an idea that will interest the boys in the reception center band at Fort McPherson.

In the "nickle, dime or dollar" drive to obtain instruments for the 30 musicians in the band, Hewitt pasted his dime on the back of a postcard with transparent tape—and dropped it in the mail box. It arrived safely at The Constitution office, where contributions for the band are being handled.

Mr. Hewitt suggests the "paste-it-on-a-postcard" idea as excellent for others who want to contribute but who will find it inconvenient to buy stamps, envelopes, etc.

Why not try it?

Meanwhile, yesterday other contributions came from Mrs. Julius T. Blackwell, of Marietta, and Miss Lula Parantha, of Stone Mountain.

Send your contribution to the Reception Center Band, care of The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

The closing session of the two-month school will be held today, officials announced yesterday.

Good Morning

WHEN CHRISTIANS SUFFER.

Sunday's lesson, First Peter 4:12-19 and 5:6-11, is a statement of how Christians should behave when suffering overtakes them. The golden text: "If any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf," First Peter 4:16.

Peter is here talking about suffering which comes to God's people, and he makes the bold and revealing statement that Christians are to rejoice, "inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when His glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you. On their part He is evil spoken of, but on your part He is glorified."

He then goes on to say: "Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to Him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator . . . Humble yourselves, therefore, under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time."

Peter and his comrades knew what suffering for Christ meant. We know very little about suffering for Christ. There are many Christians in the world today who could tell us what it means. One thinks, for example, of Martin Niemoller and hundreds of other pastors who have been in prison in Germany since Hitler ran amok, and of thousands upon thousands of Christians in Germany and the subject nations who are suffering because they are Christians. They could tell us a great deal about suffering for Christ's sake.

Peter employs some striking terms in his discussion of how Christians are to behave in the face of persecution. He says they are to endure, rejoice, prove themselves a blessing, submit in obedience to the will of God, and commit themselves wholly to His keeping.

He brings it home to us today when he says: "Learn to pay the same tax of suffering as the rest of your brotherhood throughout the world." (Moffatt's translation.) In other words, we are to suffer with our brethren who are being persecuted today. How? By bearing them up in our prayers, by sharing with them the blessings which we enjoy, by giving all possible aid to their deliverance.

Which leads me to say that I do not understand how a follower of Christ can feel himself excused from the implications of the present world struggle between dictatorship and democracy. Christianity is under attack at the hands of Naziism, Communism, and every other ideology that denies the right of the individual to approach God according to the dictates of conscience and the leading of the Holy Spirit. I think this a most appropriate lesson for the Christians of America at this particular moment. If we do not suffer with them, we will suffer alone. Salah.

60 Attend Visitors' Bureau Meeting

Sixty persons heard Morgan Blake, newspaper columnist and lecturer, speak yesterday before the monthly luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Convention and Visitors' Bureau on the subject "Reaching the High C's of Service."

Faber A. Bollinger, executive vice president of the bureau, presided at the meeting and Jasper Donaldson, secretary of the Atlanta Baseball Corporation, awarded $30 in the form of tickets to future Cracker baseball games.

The luncheon is held once each month at the Atlanta Athletic Club by the bureau and is open to all, the only requisite for attendance being a ticket.

Governor, Staff Dance; Political Talk Is Fanned

Speculation Is That Group Discussed Daily Paper.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Balmy breezes of the Georgia coastal resort area fanned the fires of political speculation as the Governor, members of his staff and various political leaders danced the hours away tonight.

For those visitors who wanted it so, there was ample entertainment for a carefree weekend without thought of the political campaigns to come. For others who admitted that a "few things" political had cropped up in the conversation, there were the experts in political affairs for the Talmadge administration, and the Governor himself.

Political observers speculated that one purpose of the meeting was to strengthen and perhaps finance the Governor's tentatively announced plan to go into the Atlanta newspaper field with an afternoon publication aimed at the Atlanta Journal (evening) and The Atlanta Constitution (morning).

The Governor has maintained as his personal publication, The Weekly Statesman, for some years. Only a few days ago he got behind a campaign to increase the Statesman's circulation. He has taken several verbal pokes at both Atlanta newspapers. Observers discussed the possibility that one purpose of the resort assembly would be to round up the very respectable sum of money needed for anyone to start a newspaper.

Another political speculation was that the Governor was shaping his plans for next year's election drive, testing the views of trusted lieutenants on the course he should steer—whether to run for Governor again or to try once more to go to the United States senate.

The next Governor of Georgia will have a four-year term. Victory in that campaign would give the present Governor 10 years in that office. But it is no secret that Talmadge also would like to be United States senator. And next year is the time for Richard B. Russell to stand for re-election. In the next few months, the Governor must make his decision and organize his campaign.

The visitors here were entertained this afternoon by Alfred W. Jones, president of the Sea Island Company, and the Governor's dance was held tonight at the King and Prince hotel. Tomorrow the visitors will take a boat ride, and in the afternoon will be guests of the Glynn county commission at a shore dinner at the Frederica Yacht Club.

Ellen Drew To Marry Hollywood Sportsman

FBI SCHOOL.

ALBANY, Ga., Aug. 15.—Jim Moore, Albany chief of police, who had a Federal Bureau of Investigation course several years ago, is among the Georgia police officers invited to Washington October 6 to attend the annual retraining and reunion session of the FBI National Police Academy to be held there. Chief Moore is planning to attend the school. He will be accompanied by Idus J. Lynn, chief of police at Bainbridge, who also is invited to the school.

Two Brothers Get Sentences In Cow Thefts

Two Cattle Buyers Under Indictment on Stolen Goods Charge.

Two brothers entered pleas of guilty yesterday in Fulton superior court to rustling cattle and a few minutes after being sentenced appeared before the Fulton grand jury as witnesses against two cattle buyers who were indicted on charges of receiving stolen goods.

The brothers, E. E. Morris and J. G. Morris, plead guilty to stealing a fine thoroughbred cow from Charlie Black, widely known Atlantan, and two cows from Ivan Rolader, of the New Marietta highway, on August 6.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore sentenced E. E. Morris to serve from two to four years, and J. G. Morris was given 12 months, with the sentence referred to the probation office.

Cattle buyers named in the indictments were Sam McMichael, who is alleged to have bought Charlie Black's cow, and Connie Upchurch, who is charged with buying the two cows stolen from Rolader.

The three cows were sold by the Morris brothers for a total of $99, and Black told the court his animal was from a blooded Alabama herd which sold for $360 each.

Black and Rolader said they found their cows had been skinned and cut into steaks and roasts when they discovered them. They identified the hides.

CIO Requests U.S.Guarantees In Shipyards

Asks Conference Before Government Takes Over Plant.

By The Associated Press.

The CIO asked last night that the government, before taking any action in the Kearny, N. J., shipbuilding strike hold a joint conference with management and union representatives "so that there can be no misunderstanding in the future on the fundamental issues and policies involved."

James B. Carey, CIO secretary, made the request in a letter to Secretary of the Navy Knox, in which he accused officers of the Federal Shipbuilding & Drydock Company of attempting to confuse the issues and engaging in "a strike against the government."

"Another reason why such a conference is necessary," Carey said, "is that any action taken by the government in this matter to assume control over the properties of the corporation should be accompanied by guarantees . . . that the employes will retain their rights of collective bargaining and concerted action now guaranteed to them by the law of the land."

Earlier, L. H. Korndorff, president of the shipbuilding company, had concluded a series of conferences with Navy officials and left for New York.

Plant Offered to U. S.

Korndorff offered last Monday to turn the yard over to the Navy rather than accept a recommendation of the Defense Mediation Board that the company sign a contract with the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers requiring that union members maintain good standing as a condition to continued employment.

The company head described this clause as a "closed shop" proposal.

Carey denied that the strike, as charged by the management, violated a general Atlantic coast shipyards agreement.

17,000 Are Idle.

The Kearny yard, holding $493,000,000 worth of naval and merchant ship contracts and employing 17,000 workers, has been idle since Thursday of last week when the CIO called a strike because of the company's refusal to accept a maintenance-of-union clause in a contract.

During the day, labor difficulties at the Briggs Manufacturing Company, Detroit, were settled. Some 250 employes of the press shop walked out yesterday and the management sent home 4,500 employes. Later, Chrysler Corporation had to shut down its Plymouth division. The strike ended with the rehiring of a shop steward who was fired Thursday. A total of 17,000 men had been made idle by the walk-out.

Other labor developments:

The Labor Department certified to the Defense Mediation Board a threatened strike today at the Solvay Process Company, Baton Rouge, La.

Carpenters Strike.

C. A. Goldsmith, federal conciliator, began conferences looking to settlement of the labor dispute at two construction projects at the Pensacola, Fla., Naval Air station.

A group of AFL carpenters, electricians and laborers quit work Wednesday pending action on requests for wage increases.

A United States conciliator, James W. Fitzpatrick, sought to avert a threatened strike of telephone installation men which union leaders asserted might eventually tie up every Bell Telephone System in the nation.

ATLANTA UNION OFFICERS CANNOT BE REACHED

E. B. Hunton, president, and R. J. Painter, secretary, of the Atlanta local of the National Association of Electrical Equipment Workers, could not be reached last night for comment on the negotiations being conducted by national officials of their association and officers of the Western Electric Company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Walther League of the Grace Lutheran church will meet at 7 o'clock tomorrow night. The topic for discussion, led by Miss Dorothy Jean Guenther, will be "The Church and Its Schools."

Railroad Evangelist D. J. Fant, who is home for a few days, will give one of his railroad sermons at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow night in the Atlanta Gospel Tabernacle tent at Delta place and Edgewood avenue. Services will be held each evening except Saturday with the Rev. Ed McGee preaching.

East Point Methodist church revival services, which began Wednesday night, will continue through Sunday night, August 24, with the Rev. Clyde Hamil, of Chattanooga, Tenn., as guest evangelist. Services begin at 7:45 o'clock each evening except Saturday. The Rev. Renard Langley is in charge of the music.

Rev. Harold Shields, pastor of the Gordon Street Presbyterian church, will return from vacation in time to preach at 11 o'clock tomorrow on "Echoes of the Mexican Congress." Rev. Shields attended the Congress of Christian Education in Mexico City during his vacation, as well as visiting several of the mission stations in Mexico. His subject for the evening service tomorrow will be "Anxiety for the Ark of God."

Rev. R. E. L. Harris, retired Baptist minister of Hogansville, Ga., will fill the pulpit at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Oakhurst Baptist church in the absence of the Rev. A. B. Couch. Rev. Harris has filled pastorates at Crawfordville, Augusta and Eatonton, Ga.

Riots Spread Throughout All of France

Nazis Decree 'Total Blame' for Outbreaks of Reds.

VICHY, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Outbreaks of arson, bombings and anti-Jewish violence spread through both Nazi-held and unoccupied France today as German military authorities warned bluntly that the entire population of the occupied zone will suffer if Communist outbreaks continue.

An order issued by Adolf Hitler's military commander in France, General Heinrich Stulpnagel, announced that anyone guilty of Communist disorders such as occurred in Paris Wednesday will be executed before a Nazi firing squad.

(Invoking the "total responsibility" system, Nazi officials decreed that all persons in occupied France will be held responsible for any Communistic demonstrations, according to dispatches from the Associated Press. This is the most broad application of the system of punishment already used by the Nazis in other conquered areas.)

Reprisals Exacted.

At the same time German authorities in the northern province of Lorraine, exacting reprisals for the flight of able-bodied French youths to Unoccupied France, ordered the deportation and splitting up of their families unless the sons return by midnight tonight.

Meanwhile a spread of arson was reported from both zones of France, directed mostly against arms plants and other war industries which are under German control.

An important electrical parts plant on the Boulevard La Moreux in one of the Paris "Red suburbs" which had important war orders was set afire and three men who ran from the plant as the flames spread were fired on by police but escaped, it was reported.

Factory Burned.

Another "mystery" fire destroyed the Graff factories at Versailles outside Paris with a 2,500,000-franc loss, while another blaze destroyed a convent at Selignan near Bourg En Presse, which is north of Lyons and close to the boundary between Nazi-held and Unoccupied France.

A bomb exploded prematurely at Nice on the Riviera this morning, killing two men and a woman who were carrying it in a parcel.

In the hotel rooms of the trio, police announced, a number of other bombs were found and an investigation was under way tonight to determine whether the three were members of a terrorist political organization and if they were connected with recent synagogue bombings in Vichy and Marseille.

Police announced the arrest of 22 persons in connection with the bombing of the Vichy synagogue, all members of the "Popular Union of French Youth" and including several youths who said they were determined to "drive the Jews out of Vichy and out of France."

Police announced the discovery of a cache of bombs, arms and a quantity of cheddite, used in explosives, in a forrest 10 miles from Vichy.

Two of the 22 suspects were said to have confessed to participation in the bombing.

Rural Counties To Be Affected By Teacher Cut

Budget of $15,434,400 Is Set Up for Present School Term.

By The Associated Press.

The decision of the State Board of Education to employ 650 fewer teachers this year than last will affect rural counties primarily, J. I. Allman, assistant state superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

He explained that teacher allotments are based on the division of schools into five groups. In group one are counties having a population density of more than 200 per square mile and in group two betwen 75 and 200 per square mile. In addition, all independent school systems are listed in the first two groups.

The state will make no reduction in the teachers in those groups. Instead, paring will be done in the other three groups with a population density ranging from 45 to 75, from 19 to 45 and to 19 or less. Just how many teachers will be eliminated in each of the latter three groups is yet to be determined.

Teacher Allotment.

In the more populous counties, Allman said, the teacher allotment per pupil is smaller than in the rural counties. For example, the state allots one teacher for every 40 pupils in a Fulton county elementary school, while it allots one teacher for every 25 pupils in a smaller county.

The school department budget for the coming year, Allman said, compelled officials to reduce the number of teachers, or lower salaries or shorten the term. Officials decided to reduce the number of rural teachers as much as necessary to conform with their budget, since this could be done without making the pupil burden greater than it is in the most populous counties.

The present state administration, Allman said, has set up a school budget of $15,434,400 for the present year, of which $10,263,000 will be used for paying school teachers' salaries for seven months and for defraying the schools' administrative expenses. This, he added, is the largest amount ever made available for this purpose.

Of the rest of the school budget, $790,000 is set aside for textbooks, $306,000 for vocational education, $80,000 for vocational rehabilitation, $100,000 for administrative expenses of the Department of Education, and $3,806,000 for the equalization fund.

Professor J. H. Allen Succumbs in Hiawassee

HIAWASSEE, Ga., Aug. 15.—Professor John Herschel Allen, 70, life-long resident and former tax receiver of Towns county, died yesterday in his home in Hiawassee after a long illness.

Mr. Allen was a member of the Baptist church for 50 years; was a Mason for 40 years and taught school for 40 years in Towns and other counties. He was a graduate of the old Hiawassee Baptist Junior College.

Funeral services were held in the McConnell Memorial Baptist church here this afternoon, conducted by his pastor, Dr. C. E. Cowan, assisted by Dr. F. C. McConnell, of Anderson, S. C., and Dr. Henry Reed, of Atlanta. Masons had charge of the grave services in the Osborn Hill cemetery.

SPEAKER—The Rev. J. S. Thrailkill, noted minister and church leader, who will speak on several occasions before the Sandy Springs camp meeting which opened yesterday.

Sandy Springs Camp Meeting NowUnderWay

Historic Church Ground Is Scene of 10-Day Revival.

The annual camp meeting at the historic Sandy Springs Camp Ground which is nearly 100 years old and located on Roswell road at Mount Vernon drive, began last night and will continue with two services each week-day and three services each Sunday for 10 days, officials announced.

The Rev. J. S. Thrailkill, widely known church leader and minister, will be the principal speaker for the meeting and will speak a number of times.

Others scheduled to speak are the Rev. F. Q. Echols, Dr. C. B. Cochran, Dr. E. G. Mackay, the Rev. C. E. Brantley and others. John L. Hames, minister of music at the Wesley Memorial Methodist church, will lead the music for the entire session.

Vote on Eight Peace Terms Urged by Knox

Navy Head Wants Program To Go to Congress.

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 15.—(UP)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox tonight expressed the hope that President Roosevelt, upon his return from his historic meeting with Prime Minister Winston Churchill, would submit the eight-point declaration of peace terms for formal adoption by congress as "America's principles."

Knox reviewed the eight points in order, with chief emphasis on points 5, 6 and 7, pertaining to full collaboration in the economic field, peace after the "final destruction of the Nazi tyranny," and freedom of the seas for all nations.

Speaking extemporaneously before the North Carolina League of Municipalities, Knox reminded his audience that the United States has twice fought for freedom of the seas, and said that "when England and America declared themselves for freedom of the seas they meant to use their great sea power to achieve peace on the seas."

If need be, he said, they will use this power to prevent an aggressive war on a world-wide basis. "You don't achieve peace just by being peaceful," he said, but by "being willing to fight for the conditions which make peace possible."

"Isolationists claim that 80 per cent of the American people are against war," Knox said. "I think they underestimate the case. I think nearly 100 per cent are against war if they had to vote for or against war.

"The real question, however, is: Do you want to lose your liberties? Do you want security for your family and your property? Are the vital interests of this country in peril? If your liberties are in danger—if the vital interests of the United States are threatened—will you surrender them, or will you fight to save them?

"If you put the question that way, and it has been put that way, repeatedly, more than two-thirds of the people would answer affirmatively."

Georgian Killed In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Frank S. Griggs, 75, retired butcher from Fitzgerald, Ga., died in a local hospital shortly before midnight last night after being struck by an automobile while crossing a downtown street earlier in the night.

Lem W. Jacobus, driver of the car which struck Griggs, was detained by police, but was later released pending a coroner's inquest to be conducted tomorrow morning by Magistrate Joe E. Carpenter.

Griggs is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Harry E. Remington, of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Sadie Blanchard, of St. Petersburg.

Births Exceed Deaths In Dougherty County

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ALBANY, Ga., Aug. 15.—Albany's population, which increased faster than that of any Georgia city above 10,000 according to the 1940 census, and which has even further stimulated by defense activities here this year, is also gaining substantially through the birth rate, according to vital statistics kept in the ordinary's office.

In the last month there were twice as many births as deaths in Dougherty county, the ratio being 64 to 32. Among the children born here from July 11 to August 11, there were 34 whites and 30 Negroes. The deaths were divided 15 whites and 17 Negroes. The 34 white babies born in the county during the month covered by the statistics were evenly divided as to boys and girls, 17 of each.

British Have Food If Invasion Comes

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Food Minister Lord Woolton announced today that Britain's "shadow larder," including 5,000,000 cans of various foods, was ready.

He said Prime Minister Churchill had instructed him to have all emergency arrangements ready by September 1, the date the prime minister has given as the zero hour for a possible invasion attempt by the Germans.

Preparations have been made to deal with conditions that might arise in event of invasion by sea or air in any part of the country and for dealing with "the most severe blitz our most pessimistic imagination could devise," Lord Woolton said.

Grocer Duels With Pair of Robbers Here

Pair Escapes With $150; One Declared Shot.

A gun he had carried for more than 30 years saw its first service last night when M. Nissenbaum, a grocer, residing at 463 Parkway drive, N. E., engaged in a pistol duel with two Negroes who robbed him of $150.

Nissenbaum and his wife were approaching their home, the grocer said, when the Negroes, hiding in the shrubbery, attacked him. After being robbed of a bag containing the day's receipts at his store, Nissenbaum said, he opened fire. As the two fled they returned the fire, Nissenbaum said.

One shot from Nissenbaum's gun struck one of the Negroes. Radio Patrolmen H. A. Beatty and R. A. Burden were told, as the Negro was seen to fall in the street, but jumped up and ran, leaving a trail of blood.

W. R. Smith, of 361 Sixth street, N. W., also reported to police last night that two Negroes slipped up behind him as he walked on Spring street, slugged him and then robbed him of a wallet containing $147.

The Secret of the Marshbanks

Fran and Kelly Find Cherry Walking, Take Her to Kelly's Studio

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

SYNOPSIS.

Charlotte (Cherry) Rawlings, an orphan, has been at Saint Dorothea's convent school since she was seven years old. She knows almost nothing about her early history but has gradually realized that, like the other girls at the school, she has no family and she questions whether she has the right to her father's name. Judge Judson Marshbank and Emma Haskell are her co-guardians. When she is twenty, Marshbank tells her that Emma has gotten her a secretarial position in San Francisco with old Mrs. Porteous Porter, who is wealthy and a semi-invalid. She goes first to the Marshbank mansion and dines alone with the judge as Fran, his young wife, and his niece Amy are dining out. Kelly Coates, an artist, drops in and Fran and Amy stop on their way out, and it is evident to Cherry that Fran and Kelly are interested in each other. As Fran and Amy go she hears laughing reference to her convent clothes and she is bitter. Life with Mrs. Porter is monotonous and she is thrilled when Kelly, horseback riding in the park with Fran, stops to talk with her while she is motoring with her employer. Later he sends her a box of candy and she is jealous when she sees him with Fran at a party given by Mrs. Porter. He stops to talk with her and she bursts out that he will never think about her because she is a Saint Dorothea's girl. She is horror-stricken after he leaves and decides she must go to him to explain.

INSTALLMENT XII.

Emma added nothing more, and Cherry looked down at her cards with blinded eyes, and made herself move them here and there as if she were playing. She finished her game, and said with a shaking voice that she was tired and thought she would go to bed. Emma still making no comment, Cherry put away the table and asked Emma if there was anything more she could do.

"No," Emma said, "nothing."

The girl came to the bedside, looked down.

"Good night then," she added in a light, level tone, with a resolute smile. "Would you—I would if you liked—shall I call you Aunt Emma?" she added hesitantingly.

Emma eyed her steadily for a few long seconds.

"No," I don't know that I'd make any change," she said then, in the same emotionless voice that Cherry had used.

"Need more ice?"

"No; I'm going to listen to the radio and then I'm going to sleep."

"Good night," Cherry said, with a parting second attempt at a smile.

She walked to her own room, slipped into bed and lay with narrowed eyes and a bitten lower lip, pondering. Thought, long denied, came with a rush, and she was drowned in the bitterness of it.

Other girls had mothers and fathers and homes. Other girls left school to step into young ladyhood with dances and frocks and allowances and a thousand other desirable and delightful things to introduce them to life. And she had—she had only the drab background of Saint Dorothea's and this humiliating revelation tonight!

Slow tears began to creep down Cherry's cheeks; presently she began to sob heavily. She cried herself to sleep.

One morning Cherry found herself free at noon, and determined to take one of the long walks she loved, to have a sandwich and a cup of coffee at some corner stall out in the Cliff House direction and not to be back in the house until it was time to preside at the 5 o'clock tea table. Two old friends were lunching with the now completely convalescent Mrs. Porter, and Emma was quite herself again.

Cherry was some blocks away from home when a low-slung open, disreputable car drew up close to her on the curb and a voice said, "Jump in."

The world wheeled about her for a few dizzy seconds, for it was Kelly Coates who had spoken; he was driving his car and beside him sat Fran Marshbanks smothered in soft fox skins, with a daring red hat topped on her dark hair. Cherry laughed from sheer excitement as she greeted them and stood hesitating, wondering if they really wanted her, and if they did why they possibly should.

"I want Mrs. Marshbanks to come over and have lunch with me," the man explained it honestly with his wide, flashing smile, "and she won't come unless you do."

"Are you free from those old ogres for a while?" Fran asked in her careless, fascinating, hoarse voice.

"I'm free until half past 4." Cherry did not want to go and yet was wild with eagerness to go. The thought that he was in love with Fran made being in Kelly's company exquisitely painful to her, but she had hungered to see these persons again, to be one of them, to know what was going on, and this opportunity would not come twice.

"I'd love to," she said, smiling as she climbed in and wedged herself snugly beside Fran. The moment she did it she regretted it, wondering through what fatuity of complacence she had accepted the invitation to play a third in their affair. But why had they asked her?

"Mrs. Marshbanks," Kelly said, "once went to a movie in which a girl visited an artist in his studio, and everything went wrong for 50 years afterward. Was that it, Fran?"

"Something like that," said Fran's exquisite voice lazily.

"So she didn't want to come home and lunch with me," Kelly went on.

"Perhaps I know my own weakness," Fran contributed idly.

They crossed the bridge and on the eastern shore moved along a wide, smooth highway for a few miles, turned left and mounted an earth road that wound up the hill. Scattered cottages, hidden among oaks and eucalyptus, faced the road here and there. Kelly's place was at the head of a small tree-lined canyon, and consisted of a cottage of perhaps three rooms, a large white barn, various sheds and fences that suggested that the place had once been a small farm. There was an arbor covered with young grape vines, sheltering a long table and two benches, young berry bushes just in leaf, a languishing little garden whose neglected rose and geranium bushes were choked with last season's dried grass and some apple and apricot trees getting ready to bloom.

Cherry was under the spell of the peace of Kelly Coate's place, its simplicity, its beauty almost before she had gotten out of the car; she had never dreamed of anything so informal, so comfortable, so complete. There was a blackened little brick grill under a pepper tree; there was a bowl of apples mixed with tomatoes and squashes and a big brown onion in the center of the table; there were smaller bowls of blue grass and brown pottery, a copper frying pan or two, wooden spoons and some checked dish towels.

They were all hungry; they fell upon preparations for luncheon together. All this went on in the small kitchen for a bleak wind had blown up from the south and it was too chilly and overcast out of doors for the arbor to be the dining room, much to Kelly's disappointment. He was nervously hospitable, nervously eager that everything should be right. The women puttered about finding table furnishings, drawing a card table to the fire, asking directions while he brought in great armfuls of wood and crashed them on the hearth. Cherry had not seen him in this mood before, but she understood it. This was Fran's first visit to Topcote, as it was hers, and he was all anxiety that Fran's impression should be a good one.

They were very much in love, Kelly and Fran; Cherry could see that. Or at least Kelly was. Perhaps Fran was only pretending; Cherry could not be sure, but this was evidently a game of which she knew every move.

After lunch he begged them to leave the table disorder just as it was because he could not wait another moment to show them his paintings, and they went to the big barn studio and while Kelly dragged out and dusted canvas after canvas Cherry and Fran stood looking and commenting. Neither one assumed any knowledge of his art, but he accepted their criticisms gratefully and pointed out details of technique with no thought that he might be leaving his audience somewhat behind him.

Presently Fran drifted to the great north window that had been cut down to the floor, and stood looking dubiously between long homespun curtains at the now steadily falling rain. Kelly went over to stand beside her, and after a moment Cherry returned to the house thrilled by the mere nearness of their emotion and realizing what this moment alone might mean to them. For she had not been blind and deaf to the apparently casual phrases and glances that had been sprinkled through the luncheon talk; she was not unaware that Judge Marshbanks was Othello; she had even heard Fran at a moment when she supposed herself out of hearing in the kitchen answer some remark of Kelly's with a patient: "Because he may find out about it and it'll be all right if I say she was along!" and then, in another second: "No, but I did promise, Kelly, and I'm breaking my promise."

Cherry had heard no more, and what she did hear had not surprised her. She surmised from a quick, open remark or two made in the car that Judge Marshbanks had asked his wife not to see Kelly, and that the two had met by chance and were risking a discovery that might have been extremely uncomfortable for them both.

And when she found herself alone in the kitchen, she began to feel a certain shame and discomfort in the part she was playing in their secret. She felt ashamed for them and for herself.

When the kitchen clock said quarter to four, she wen back to the barn. Fran and Kelly were still standing by the window looking out at the rain that was mingling now with an early dusk.

It was raining steadily again when they went out to the open car. Fran had refused Kelly's suggestion that they telephone for a taxi. She had said, "We're late now! We'll be home in 20 minutes; let's make a dash for it!"

The women were bundled into snug raincoats with bandannas tied over their heads. They packed themselves into the wide seat and raised an umbrella close over them. A quarter of a mile down the hill there was a bad turn and Cherry felt the horrible sensation of wheels skidding, and instantly they were wedged in a ditch with the engine's nose stuck into a dripping bank.

When repeated efforts had proved that the car would not move with its load, Cherry and Fran got out and stood still, laughing philosophically under their umbrella.

"Don't hurry. I'm just as good as divorced now," Fran's voice with its poignant note of laughter and tears said calmly.

"This'll only take a minute," Kelly struggled gallantly for fully 10 minutes, his arms wrenching at the steering wheel, his face red. "Damn it!" he muttered under his breath, as the wheels spun around uselessly in a deepening groove of soft, wet earth.

"We'd better go back, I think, and telephone for a taxi," Fran suggested.

"Lord, I'm sorry about this," the man said apologetically. "The old bus never let me down before!"

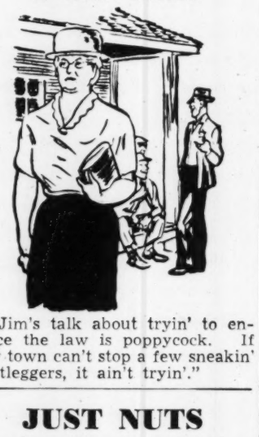

Their arms linked, slipping and laughing and pulling one another back to balance, they started up the road. It was a hard pull, and when they reached the house it was with a sort of hysteria of relief that the women shed their outer garments and crouched close to the revived fire. Delicious warmth began to creep through their shaking bones; Kelly lighted lamps, mixed them a hot drink that started the blood moving again. The clock tinged a brisk five.

Sausalito could supply no taxi but San Francisco obligingly offered to send one.

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Chirologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21 and April 19 (ARIES)—The entire day and through 1:25 midnight should be an inspirational, artistic or creative period, when your ideas artistically, creative and for matters of beauty can be put into practical form. Dealings with others should have pleasant results.

April 20 and May 20 (GEMINI)—The entire day through 9 p. m. favors dealings in property, building, friendships with older people, and matters dealing with liquids and water. Details may be overlooked in haste, so give close attention to fine points of what you are undertaking.

May 21 and June 20 (GEMINI)—Previous to 4:42 p. m., guard your health, as the influences operating now often bring a feeling of lassitude. Use care in dealings with liquids. The evening hours suggest caution in travel and avoid sudden changes.

June 21 and July 22 (CANCER)—The period previous to 2:12 p. m. favors dealings with those of the opposite sex, domestic affairs, sociability. After 2:12 p. m. and continuing throughout the remainder of the day favors general business, buying and selling. The evening hours favor sports and matters of a romantic nature.

July 23 and August 22 (LEO)—There may be a tendency to push matters or feel a high tension in your feelings before 3 p. m., so use care that you do not act rashly. The remainder of the day and evening favors social matters.

August 23 and September 22 (VIRGO) Plan your entire day and do not allow yourself to slip into laxness. Vagueness and confusion or dealings with people who are undecided will not bring you profit. After 7:33 p. m., your emotions and feelings should be thoroughly controlled.

September 23 and October 22 (LIBRA) Opportunities for operation or closer companionships with others will be felt in many ways throughout the day. The entire day and evening favor financial matters and dealings with professional people.

October 23 and November 21 (SCORPIO)—The day favors writing, communications, trial, changes, new attachments. A great deal should be accomplished in inventive or scientific work. An auspicious day for dealings with older people and for matters related to the land.

November 22 and December 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—Previous to 12:48 p. m. is the better portion of the day, when you should make every effort to get conditions set in motion for progress. After 12:48 p. m. and until 7:50 p. m., care should be used to hold poise and be careful in taking on new obligations.

December 22 and January 19 (CAPRICORN)—Your judgment, especially in connection with financial matters, close relatives and written matter may lack clearness and decisiveness before 12:46 p. m. Friction with close kin or with people acting as agents may be turbulent and hard to iron out. After 12:46 p. m., asking favors and for attending to matters connected with professional people are favored.

January 20 and February 18 (AQUARIUS)—The day through 7:45 p. m. favors energetic and aggressive efforts along business and industrial lines, for literary work and constructive efforts along new lines of endeavor. The period past 7:45 p. m. favors sociability and sports.

February 19 and March 20 (PISCES) The entire day and evening does not especially favor new or important undertakings. An excellent day to stick to routine and finish those things already started.

A Real Trouper.

Soprano Star Sings Tonight On 'Serenade'

Jessica Dragonette Returns to Airwaves at 8:45 Over WGST.

Breaking a long radio network silence, Jessica Dragonette, pioneer soprano star of broadcasting, returns tonight to a nation-wide program on Columbia network's "Saturday Night Serenade." This program will be heard over WGST at 8:45 o'clock.

To begin her sixteenth season as a network star—she started in 1926—Miss Dragonette sings three songs to the accompaniment of Gus Haenschen's orchestra. Her first is "Cielito Lindo," Mexican favorite by Fernandez, to be followed by "You and I" and "Liebestrum."

Bill Perry, tenor of "Saturday Night Serenade," is vacationing and will not be heard with Miss Dragonette during her first program. On subsequent programs, however, Perry will be paired with Miss Dragonette is a series of duets arranged by Roland Martini, producer and director of the program.

Jessica Dragonette is completely a product of American musical culture. Born of American parents in Calcutta, she was brought back to America as a child. Her musical talents were apparent before she reached her 'teens and much of her time in childhood was devoted to study under the guidance of this country's foremost teachers.

As she progressed, Miss Dragonette was prevailed upon to complete her studies abroad, but one of her proudest boasts is that she resisted every suggestion that she turn to Europe for musical education.

CHICAGOLAND FESTIVAL OF MUSIC TO BE "AIRED"

The color, pageantry, and stirring music of the 12th annual Chicagoland Music Festival will be broadcast over the coast to coast Mutual network and WATL tonight from 8:30 to 9:15 p. m.

Sponsored by the Chicago Tribune," the Musical Festival is presented each year in Chicago's Soldiers' Field before an audience of 100,000 music lovers. The chief attractions of this year's festival will be a pageant depicting John T. McCutcheon's famous cartoon, "Injun Summer," and the singing of "Celeste Aida" by Giovanni Martinelli, world-famed operatic tenor. Mutual will broadcast these two principal events.

Many engineering problems have been solved in Mutual's attempt to broadcast a complete picture of the festival, so that no word or musical note escapes the microphones. Clyde White, assistant to Mutual affiliate WGN's chief engineer, and a corps of eight assistants have placed more than 25 microphones on the block-long field. There will be microphones for the orchestras, for the choruses, for speakers and for the soloists. All the sound picked up will be blended into well-rounded, balanced broadcast by an engineer stationed in a control booth on the field.

Atlanta Army Depot Volume Up 6 Per Cent

Quartermaster Warehouse Handles 32,369,223 Pounds in Month.

The Atlanta Quartermaster Depot handled 32,369,223 pounds of freight during the month of July, an increase of 6 per cent over the 30,471,986 pounds of goods which passed through the gates of the depot during the month of June, Colonel Thomas L. Holland, commanding officer, announced yesterday.

Ranging in size from paper clips to ambulances, the tonnage handled in July represents 1,078 freight carloads, with each car carrying 30,000 pounds and forming one trainload of 41 cars for each working day of the month, Colonel Holland said.

Employed at the depot are 1,600 civilian employes under the supervision of 42 officers of the U. S. Army and representing one of the largest installations of its kind in the world, supplying almost all the troops of the Fourth Corps Area with items of Quartermaster issue.

Fair Cancelled—Because There's Nothing to Show

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The American Institute of the City of New York today cancelled an old-fashioned county fair scheduled for Madison Square Garden September 10-20, because, as one spokesman put it, "We couldn't get a darned thing to show."

"Conditions are so unsettled that we just couldn't produce manufacturers for display," he said.

The fair would have been New York's county's first since 1897, and would have represented the manufacturing, farm and industrial life of the state.

PROPERTY GAIN.

OGLETHORPE, Ga., Aug. 15.—It is announced by Tax Receiver Bryant Batton that the consolidated tax returns for Macon county show a gain over last year of $50,147. The greater part of this gain, Batton said, was in real estate and new homes. The total tax valuation for the county is $2,934,115. Exemptions bring the taxable value of the county property to $2,117,630.

F.D.R. To Land At Maine Port This Afternoon

Special Train Waits To Speed Him to White House.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 15. (AP)—President Roosevelt will land at Rockland, Me., some time tomorrow afternoon, completing a cruise during which he held historic conferences with Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain.

William D. Hassett, of the presidential secretarial staff, made this disclosure tonight to White House newsmen gathered in this resort town for the past several days waiting word of his whereabouts.

Late tonight, Hassett said he had received the following message from the President, who is aboard his yacht Potomac:

"Potomac is anchored near Deer Island, Maine, and has on board Hopkins, Watson, Berdall, McIntire and myself. We land tomorrow and take train to Washington, arriving some time Sunday morning. All well."

First Disclosure.

This was the first time since the Potomac sailed from New London, Conn., early a fortnight ago that Mr. Roosevelt had disclosed his exact whereabouts or the location of the yacht.

The companions he mentioned are Harry L. Hopkins, lease-lend supervisor; Major E. M. Watson, secretary and military aide; Captain John R. Beardall, naval aide, and Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the Navy and the President's personal physician.

Churchill Not Mentioned.

With the exception of Hopkins, that was the group which started the cruise with the chief executive. Since there was no mention of Churchill, the presumption was that the British Prime Minister and the President had made their farewells. That did not preclude a possibility, however, that Churchill still might be on this side of the Atlantic.

The President probably will hold a press conference at Rockland, Hassett asserted, but he added he would have to obtain confirmation of that from Mr. Roosevelt.

The chief executive's special train, which had been held in Boston, was to move up the Maine coast during the night, carrying White House aides and an unusually heavy delegation of reporters, radio men and photographers scenting a possibly momentous news story at a press conference.

"Herd up" that used stove, heater, fur coat, radio, gun, etc., and "corral" cash by advertising them in the Want Ads of The Constitution.

PARLEY PARTICIPANTS—Some of the officials who joined in the conferences held in midocean by President Roosevelt and the British prime minister are shown in this picture made aboard H. M. S. Prince of Wales. Admiral E. J. King, Atlantic fleet commander, left, and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of staff, are standing behind the President and Churchill. At the extreme left is Harry Hopkins, lease-lend administrator.

Highway Measure Passed by Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The senate passed a $195,000,000 defense highway measure today after Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, forced supporters to accept a $50,000,000 slash in their original demands.

Through a series of quorum calls that tied the senate into a parliamentary knot for nearly three hours, Vandenberg with the help of Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, won acceptance of a $50,000,000 reduction in the $100,000,000 they had recommended for a network of strategic highways.

U. S., Britain Seek Parley With Russia

as to where and when the immense American and British resources "can best be used to further the greatest extent our common effort" and this, they asserted, applied equally to manufactured war supplies and raw materials.

"The needs and demands of your and our armed services can only be determined in the light of the full knowledge of the many factors which must be taken into consideration in the decisions that we make," the message continued.

"In order that all of us may be in a position to arrive at speedy decisions as to the apportionment of our joint resources, we suggest that we prepare for a meeting to be held at Moscow to which we should send high representatives who could discuss these matters directly with you.

Must Act Quickly.

"If this conference appeals to you, we want you to know that pending the decisions of that conference we shall continue to send supplies and material as rapidly as possible.

"We realize fully how vitally important to the defeat of Hitlerism is the brave and steadfast resistance of the Soviet Union and we feel therefore that we must not in any circumstances fail to act quickly and immediately in this matter on planning the program for the future allocation of our joint resources."

The President and prime minister decided on the message to Stalin after a study of the report of Harry Hopkins, the President's lease-lend administrator, on his talks in Moscow with Stalin and other Soviet leaders.

First Concrete Act.

The message to Stalin constituted the first concrete move disclosed by the President and prime minister to put into action quickly the program they formulated at sea to achieve "the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

In their statement accompanying the eight-point joint declaration of aims yesterday, the two announced they had examined the whole problem of the supply of war munitions to "those countries actively engaged in resisting aggression." This, they said, included the supply problems of the Soviet Union.

The message to Stalin clearly showed the urgency with which they considered the question of getting war materials to Russia, now hard pressed to hold back the advancing German armies.

The statement in the message that "further fighting fronts" may develop was considered here to be a reference directly to the tense Far Eastern situation.

Seen as Warning.

It was regarded in some quarters as a warning to Japan that the President and prime minister had discussed that possibility and agreed on when and how Anglo-American military resistance would be offered to any further Japanese expansion in the southwest Pacific.

A Japanese attack on the Siberian provinces of Russia also appeared to be envisaged as a possible new front.

The "high representatives" whom the President and prime minister proposed to send to Moscow were expected to include production experts and possibly ranking military officers familiar with existing and potential American and British war supplies.

The message also appeared to reflect confidence of President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill in Russia's ability to continue the fight against Germany and a belief that a large-scale diversion of supplies intended for Britain should be made to the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Hull, meanwhile, indicated confidence that Russia would subscribe to the eight-point set of principles enunciated by the President and prime minister as the basis of their hopes "for a better future for the world."

Text of F.D.R.-Churchill Note Suggesting Parley in Moscow

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP) The text of the State Department announcement of the Roosevelt-Churchill message to Josef Stalin:

We have taken the opportunity afforded by the consideration of the report of Mr. Harry Hopkins on his return from Moscow to consult together as to how best our two countries can help your country in the splendid defense that you are making against the Nazi attack. We are at the moment cooperating to provide you with the very maximum of supplies that you most urgently need. Already many shiploads have left our shores and more will leave in the immediate future.

We must now turn our minds to the consideration of a more long term policy, since there is still a long and hard path to be traversed before there can be won that complete victory without which our efforts and sacrifices would be wasted.

The war goes on upon many fronts and before it is over there may be further fighting fronts that will be developed. Our resources though immense are limited, and it must become a question as to where and when those resources can best be used to further the greatest extent our common effort. This applies equally to manufactured war supplies and to raw materials.

The needs and demands of your and our armed services can only be determined in the light of the full knowledge of the many factors which must be taken into consideration in the decisions that we make. In order that all of us may be in a position to arrive at speedy decisions as to the apportionment of our joint resources, we suggest that we prepare for a meeting to be held at Moscow, to which we would send high representatives who could discuss these matters directly with you. If this conference appeals to you, we want you to know that pending the decisions of that conference we shall continue to send supplies and material as rapidly as possible.

We realize fully how vitally important to the defeat of Hitlerism is the brave and steadfast resistance of the Soviet Union and we feel therefore that we must not in any circumstances fail to act quickly and immediately in this matter on planning the program for the future allocation of our joint resources.

8 Points Called Bill of Rights For the World of all free nations and free men seemed to have come.

It lost a war but because in a moment of extreme exaltation and national renaissance over the miracle of Dunkirk it refused to recognize that fact. The picture today is very different.

Today from one end of Europe to the other revolution is brewing, the revolution of free and sane men, who hold on in hunger and oppression in the midst of daily imprisonments and executions, believing in a deliverer.

Britain Badly Scarred

But Britain bears on her body the scars of a terrible year. Still free, still with all trade unions and institutions intact, the workers of this island toil by their own agreement from 8 in the morning until 7:30 at night on limited and monotonous food.

The fortune of Britain, the economic, social and domestic lives of all the people have been thrown into the scale for a world based on these eight points. There is not a person but has his most intimate domestic affairs radically rearranged by the exigencies of war, and only the spontaneous genius for affections and democratic co-operation has sprung up in Britain under pressure, danger and the elan of recovering a lost cause has made it possible for President Roosevelt or anybody else even to dream of a world envisaged in those eight points.

They can be won with America; they hardly can be won without us. Nor can they be maintained in victory without a permanent close and brotherly collaboration between all parts of the English-speaking world—collaboration that includes a common naval defense, a common foreign policy and a common financial and economic program, especially as regards the use and disposal of surplus commodities.

The United States and the United Kingdom, with all the free dominions, have nothing to lose but their place in history, and they have a world to gain. They can become the focal point and liberators of the world, or continue to exist as secondary powers on the periphery of the great complex of Europe, Asia and Africa, which are not three continents, but one.

Freedom Is Not Cheap.

But the United States cannot change the course of history by words. Freedom doesn't come cheap any more; that which is the most precious is the most costly; that which is the most costly is most worth the price.

But the price is not for the pusillanimous, but for the keen, generous, daring and brave.

So the eight points can be reduced to the question: Does the United States intend again, as it did in 1776, to throw down the gauntlet to history and make a bid for the future, or will she linger on in the futility of the last 20 years

Will we throw off the shackles we forged for ourselves, or help by lethargy to forge them for the rest of the world? Will we translate the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights into a code for all and so create interdependence and security, or will we lose them for ourselves by refusing them to others?

I do not know the answer to this question. But I do know that the whole future of men on this planet hangs upon it.

Bridal Couples Feted at Parties After Rehearsals

Interesting affairs occurring last evening were the buffet suppers which followed the wedding rehearsals of Miss Frances McClain and William T. Burt Jr., and Miss Annette Lunsford and Glenn Thomas.

Miss McClain and Mr. Burt will be married today at the Druid Hills Baptist church and Miss Lunsford will become the bride of Mr. Thomas at the Theological chapel of Emory University.

Miss Elizabeth Talbot entertained the McClain-Burt wedding personnel and out-of-town guests at the home of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Talbot on Howell Mill road.

Miss Talbot was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Talbot, Miss Annie Merle Jones and Mrs. M. H. Kelly.

A profusion of summer flowers in shades of pink and white graced the interior of the home. A miniature wedding scene was placed at one end of the table, which was centered with silver candelabra holding lighted white tapers. The table was overlaid with a Chinese embroidered linen cloth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lunsford feted their daughter and Mr. Thomas at their home on North Decatur road, the affair having assembled members of the wedding personnel and the immediate families.

Low crystal containers filled with pink and white gladioli graced either end of the lace-overlaid table. The centerpiece was formed of a wedding cake flanked by crystal candelabra which held burning tapers.

CAPTAIN AND MRS. JOHN T. CARLTON.

Miss Mackay Becomes Bride Of Captain John T. Carlton

The Little chapel of the Glenn Memorial church formed the setting yesterday at noon for the marriage of Miss Alice Louise Mackay to Captain John Thomas Carlton, United States Army.

The ceremony was attended by a gathering of friends and relatives and was performed by Dr. Edward G. Mackay, uncle of the bride.

Two tall white standards, one at each side of the chancel, were filled with arrangements of white gladoli and white pompom chrysanthemums, accented against the rich paneled background of the chapel.

The guests were escorted by James Hobgood and Captain Edward E. Lyon, ushers, and during their entrance, Mrs. Haskell Boyter presented a program of music at the organ.

Miss Kathleen Mackay, only sister of the bride, was maid of honor and her only attendant. She was gowned in a model of rose-dust crepe featuring panels of tucks which formed the trimming of the flared skirt. She wore a short jacket of the same material, also featuring tucks, and at the shoulder she wore a cluster of tuberoses. Her has was a smart early fall model of brown felt, featuring a halo-effect of petals in the brown felt, and trimmed with a veil. She wore accessories in a matching brown shade.

The bride ascended the aisle with her brother, William Mackay, of Charlotte, N. C., by whom she was given in marriage. At the chancel, they were joined by the bridegroom and his brother, James E. Carlton, who served as best man.

The bride, a Patrician blonde, was gowned in a becoming shade of porcelain blue, the wedding ensemble being fashioned with a bodice of blue satin and the skirt of matching blue crepe. The dress featured simple lines in the bodice and fullness was introduced in the front of the skirt by shirring at either side. Her matching blue crepe short coat was banded in blue satin. Similar satin banding, matching the bodice of the dress, formed an epaulet effect on the jacket, extending from the front around the sleeves.

Porcelain blue also was the shade of the bride's hat, a modified version of the Empress Eugenie mode. The crown was entirely formed of blue feathers, the underside of the brim being of brown velour. A cluster of blue feathers curled up over the left side. She wore alligator brown accessories and her flowers were orchids combined with sprays of stephanotis.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. J. E. Carlton, of Decatur, was gowned in a model of blue and white printed silk worn with white accessories, with a cluster of white gardenias at her shoulder.

After their wedding, Captain Carlton and his bride left for their wedding trip. They will motor up the central states to Canada and spend several weeks on Georgian bay in Canada at the summer home of the bride's family.

Mrs. Carlton chose for traveling a lightweight wool two-piece suit in a light beige shade. For accents she wore a brown hat and matching accessories and a shoulder cluster of orchids.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William R. Mackay, of Charlotte, N. C., brother and sister of the bride; Mrs. Elizabeth Harris and Miss Clara Nell Hargrove, of Macon, and Major and Mrs. Paul Hutcherson and Mrs. Sylvia Head, of Dahlonega.

The bride is the younger daughter of Mrs. William Robert Mackay and the late Rev. Mackay, who was the former pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Macon. She is a sister of Dr. Roland P. Mackay, of Chicago, and William Robert Mackay, of Charlotte, and her only sister is Miss Kathleen Mackay.

Mrs. Carlton is a graduate of Wesleyan College in Macon and for the past three years has been society editor of the Atlanta Journal. Prior to this time, she was editor of the woman's page of the Richmond Times-Dispatch in Richmond, Va.

Captain Carlton is the son of Mrs. J. E. Carlton, of Decatur, and the late Mr. Carlton. He is a brother of James E. Carlton and Mrs. Guy Brooks, of Atlanta, and Mesdames [illegible] B. Stovall, of Sanford, Fla.; J. P. Pannell, of Monroe; W. J. Carr, of Conyers, and E. O. Thompson, of South Carolina.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Georgia, where he was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. He has been connected with two Atlanta newspapers, the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Georgian. With the Journal, he has been city hall reporter and columnist until he was recently called to active duty with the morale division of the United States Army. His headquarters are in Atlanta, where he and his bride will reside.

Supper Planned For Bridal Pairs

Among interesting events of the weekend will be the buffet supper to be given by Mr. and Mrs. James M. Crawford, who will be hosts on Sunday evening at her home on Club drive.

Honor guests will be their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Cherry and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wight Jr., whose marriages were recent events of interest. Mrs. Cherry is the former Miss Rebecca Wight, and Mrs. Wight is the former Miss Sarah Lewis.

Invited are Misses Emmakate Vretman, Margaret Huffman, Hamilton Lokey, Griggs Shaeffer, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wight Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wight.

Activities Planned By La Rocca Grove.

Mary E. La Rocca Grove of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic hall in East Point. The guardian, Mrs. Jeannie Brown, will preside.

This will be "Friendship night," and each officer may invite a friend, who is a member of the Woodmen Circle, to be her special guest and to preside or occupy a seat at her respective station. Ritualistic work and initiation of candidates will be held.

Mesdames Mae Brown and Virginia Warr were hostesses recently to the Service Club of the grove at their country home near Fayetteville. An outdoor luncheon was served, followed by the business session, with the chairman, Mrs. Kate Thompson, presiding.

On Wednesday, August 27, the club will meet at grill No. 2, Adams Park. A basket lunch will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Lillian West will serve as hostess.

For Miss Taylor.

An artistic arrangement of white althea and zinnias placed in a crystal container formed the centerpiece for the table at the bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. Stephen Hale yesterday for Miss Betty Taylor.

Miss Taylor and Vernon Kyle will be married on the evening of September 12 at Glenn Memorial church at a fashionable ceremony.

The affair, which was held at the Hale residence on Emory road, assembled a few close friends of the honor guest.

Miss Wilson Weds George W. Beggs At Church Rites

Miss Evelyn Mae Wilson became the bride of George Weller Beggs at a ceremony which took place yesterday at 5:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church of Decatur.

Dr. Dick Hall, pastor of the church, officiated in the presence of the relatives and friends of the two families.

The altar was banked with palms and greenery before which were posed baskets of white lilies. Seven-branched candelabra were arranged in pyramid effect.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Traynum W. Wilson, and the best man was Norman Beggs, of Columbus, brother of the bridegroom.

Miss Beatrice Turner was the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She was becomingly gowned in a model of beige with accessories of brown, and she wore a shoulder spray of Cardenias.

The bride, who entered with her father, wore a smart suit of tea rose, in lightweight wool, with accessories of cocoa, and a shoulder cluster of bronze orchids.

Mrs. T. W. Wilson, mother of the bride, wore a dress of navy blue sheer, and her flowers were roses. Mrs. D. T. Beggs, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in blue sheer, with shoulder spray of Talisman roses.

Miss Florence Jones and Miss Helen Jones Become Brides at Presbyterian Church

The North Avenue Presbyterian church formed the setting last evening for the marriages of Miss Florence Jones and Hugh W. Lester Jr., and Miss Helen Jones and Patman Dobbins which took place in the presence of only members of the two immediate families due to the serious illness of Winfield Payne Jones, father of the brides.

The church was beautifully decorated for the nuptials. The altar was banked with an arrangement of greenery amid which were placed large, tall baskets of white roses and lilies. Cathedral candelabra holding white tapers completed the artistic setting. Prior to and during the ceremony a musical program was presented on the organ by Miss Emilie Parmalee.

The pastor, Dr. Vernon Broyles officiated at both ceremonies. The Jones-Lester service took place first, performed at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Miriam Dinwiddie was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, and was becomingly gowned in a model of green mousseline de soie and lace fashioned with a long torso effect and a floor-length full skirt. She carried a bouquet of pastel-shaded summer garden flowers.

Entering with her brother, Carroll Payne Jones, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride met the groom and Whitley Butner, his best man, at the altar. Her beautiful blond loveliness was enhanced by her wedding gown fashioned with an all-over chantilly lace waist and a long torso hipline. The long full net skirt was posed over ivory satin. Her finger-tip veil of white tulle was arranged on a halo of calla lilies and orange blossoms belonging to Mrs. Winfield Marshall Jones, the former Miss Eloise Dickey, and worn at her wedding. She carried an exquisite lace handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Carroll Payne Jones, the former Miss Marjorie Gould. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of white orchids and swainsona.

A dainty blond, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of blush pink satin, the dress belonging to Mrs. Winfield Marshall Jones and worn by her, when as Miss Eloise Dickey she became a bride. Made along becoming princess lines, the dress was unusually flattering to the slim figure of the bride. She wore a cap of rose point lace which belongs to Mrs. Carroll Payne Jones and worn by her when as Miss Marjorie Gould she became a bride. A full-length tulle veil fell in graceful folds from the cap over the long train. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her flowers were white orchids and swainsona.

The bride was preceded to the altar by Miss Martha Blalock, who was maid of honor and only attendant. She was an attractive figure in her wedding gown of blue taffeta trimmed in lace bands around the hemline. Her flowers were a bouquet of pastel-shaded garden flowers.

Mrs. Winfield Jones, mother of the two brides, was gowned in a model of orchid rose lace and chiffon and her flowers were orchids. Mrs. Ethel Moore Dobbins, mother of Patman Dobbins, was gowned in gold lace and her flowers were orchids. Mrs. Hugh Willet Lester, mother of Hugh Lester, wore blue lace and chiffon and her flowers were orchids. Miss Anne Lewis Jones, of Alexandria, Va., aunt of the brides, was gowned in black and white chiffon and her flowers were gardenias.

The Negro Mammy Of Olivia de Havilland Is Again Hattie McDaniel

By Harold Heffernan.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—Taking our first look-in today on stage 14 at Warner Brothers, we come upon the kitchen of a fine old southern home; real stove, real wood fire, real food in the oven and a pot of tea brewing on the back of the stove. An eyeful — and it smells good, too.

Principals are Hattie McDaniel, wearing a flaring apron over stiff taffeta skirt that makes her broad as a haystack, and Olivia de Havilland, fresh and lovely in an old-fashioned gown. The picture is "They Died With Their Boots On."

Olivia is sitting at the kitchen table, waiting for the tea to be ready so that she can have her fortune told. Hattie is to read the leaves. Incidentally, there's something charmingly reminiscent about this acting combination of Hattie McDaniel and Olivia de Havilland. Remember? You don't? Well, then, read on.

"Heah we is, you and me, asking fortunes from de tea," Hattie chants to begin the action. "Lift de cup and ah'll see—what I see."

"Tell me quickly," Olivia pleads. (You see, she's in love with that rascally Errol Flynn). "What do you see?"

"I see a bird," says Hattie. "It's wingin' its way to you."

"With a message?" Olivia asks.

"Yes, that's what it is, a message."

"From him?"

"Yes, it must be from him. 'Cause I see a tall, handsome officer," Hattie assures.

"What's he doing? What's he doing?" asks Olivia, excited.

"Well, I'll tell you, Miss Melanie . . . "

Hattie's mind had just slipped back about a few years. She called Olivia "Melanie" because that was Olivia's name in "Gone With the Wind"—and in that picture they played many a scene together.

One of the saddest things about Hollywood is the occasional appearance of a great used-to-be—usually struggling to keep body and soul together.

Jackie Cooper and Suzanne Foster are making a scene in front of the main gate at Paramount studio in their picture, "Glamour Boy," which deals with the private lives of young Hollywood movie stars. The two youngsters are supposed to walk through the gate together.

Director Ralph Murphy tells his assistant to get a well-dressed extra and have him stand just to the left of the gate, peering into the busy lot.

"Get somebody who looks like he might have been somebody at one time or another," he calls after his aide.

The scene is played—and an elderly man of dignified mien is stationed at the gate to represent a well-known actor. He is a straight, proud-looking old gentleman who looks as if he knew better days.

Director Murphy, who is pretty young, and Jackie and Susanne, many years younger, hadn't the faintest idea of this extra's identity.

But the $7.50 voucher the man signed at the pay window that late afternoon bore a signature millions of fans would have fought to get into their autograph books some 25 years ago.

The nautical knowledge of John Carradine, who recently bought a 60-foot sloop, was put to a test before the cameras when the character actor reported for work in the swamp which Twentieth Century-Fox built on its backlot for "Swamp Water," (picturization of Vereen Bell's novel).

"Do you know how to maneuver this boat, Mr. Carradine?" asked Jean Renoir, the very polite French director.

"Sir," rumbled Carradine, rising to his full six feet-one, "I'm the master of the good ship, Bali."

"You find swamp bottom with that pole," explained a prop man, "and shove the boat with it." Carradine gave the man a black look, grabbed the pole and shoved off.

In the middle of the scene, Captain Carradine plunged the pole into the water. It stuck in the mire, and tussling with it, the actor fell over backwards.

"It's unbecoming for a sailing master of my rank to pole that filthy boat," commented Carradine as the prop man fished him out. "But for a thousand a week, I guess I can submerge my pride."

"Try not to submerge it again, please," said Renoir, politely but firmly.

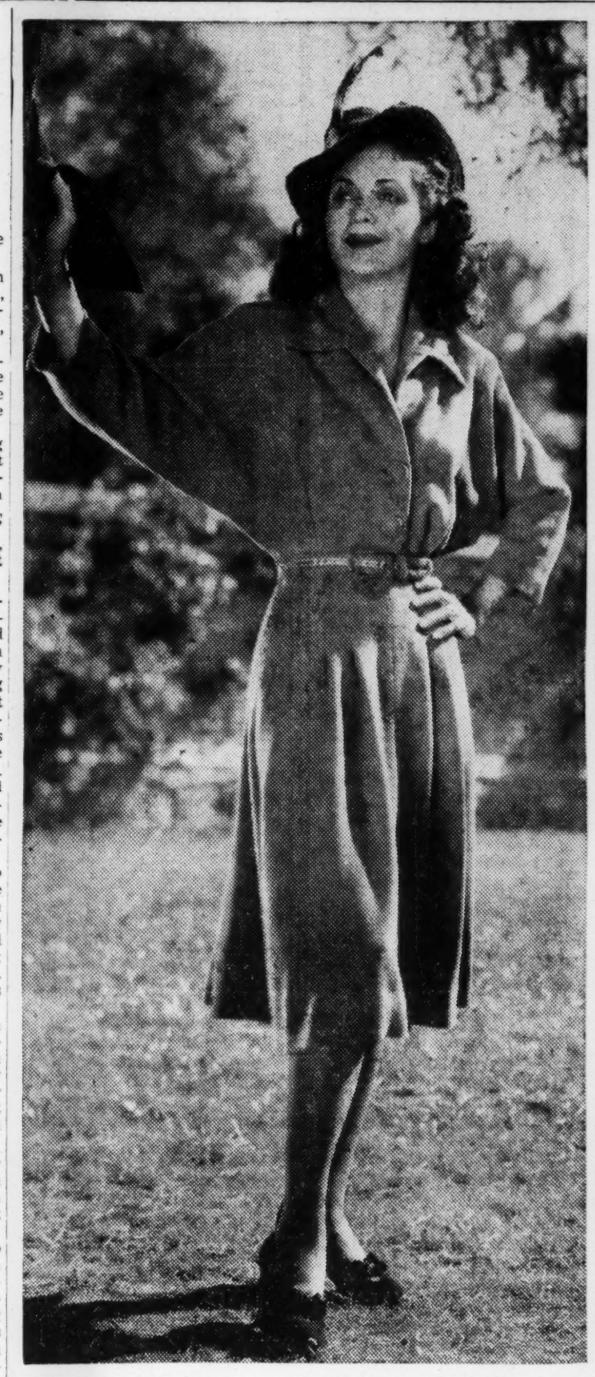

Ann Rutherford's road to stardom started with a sore tooth—and you've probably never heard this one before. She came from radio to pictures and to radio by mistake. Little Ann was tripping down the boulevard one day, not gaily but in pain. She was heading for a dentist whose offices were in a building adjoining the one that housed a radio station. Into the wrong building tripped Ann. Mistaken for another applicant, Ann got an audition. She went on the air—and into pictures.

Ellen Drew is the actress who found candy store clerking a more rapid route to the inner circle than studying hard in some far-away dramatic school. Comedian Bill Demarest, then a talent scout, took Ellen to Paramount for a test. That was three years ago. She's climbed steadily ever since.

A few doors up the street from Ellen's candy store was the barber shop where Arleen Whelan trimmed nails from 9 to 6 every day—and it was there a director set in motion one of the mightiest ballyhoo campaigns ever launched for an unknown.

So, don't be too impressed by all the high-sounding advice you get from Hollywood. Stardom was, is, and always will be just around the corner—any corner.

Remember, that Greta Garbo was modeling hats in a Stockholm department store into which wandered an eagle-eyed Swedish director; that Myrna Loy was selling a bit of her sculpture to a star's wife who said, 'You should be in pictures'—and actually did something about it—and that William Powell borrowed $300 from his aunt to get started on a stage career.

This softly tailored gold wool dress, worn by Carol Bruce, Universal actress, illustrates the new interest in full dolman sleeves and sleek hiplines.

Take Your Time And Appear Graceful

By Ida Jean Kain

There is supposed to be a bit of the actress in every woman, but very few women outside the theater are on to the trick of making an entrance. It is almost instinctive with the actress to make sure of creating a favorable first impression. Before she comes into a room filled with people, she pauses for an imperceptible second, takes a deep breath, tilts her head proudly, and glides in to three-four time.

The actress learns early in her career that the way she carries herself can add or detract from her self-assigned role as a colorful personality. But unless you have had occasion to properly evaluate posture, you won't have any definite thoughts on the subject.

Ina Claire comes into a room with such an air of gaiety that she gives everyone else a lift. Miss Claire is one of the stage stars who have made it their business to learn to walk beautifully. Such perfect co-ordination is not easily acquired. But there are certain rules which make a tremendous difference in the impression you make.

It pays to take a second to pull yourself together before entering a room. Straighten yourself out and hold your head high. Never come in all slumped over with your eyes downcast. That makes you look timid—or as if you didn't hold a very high opinion of yourself.

When you are ready to sit down, walk over to a chair—take your time about it—and turn around casually. Locate the seat of the chair with the back of one leg, other foot slightly advanced, and lower yourself easily.

The bit of the actress in you should keep you from ever sitting with knees apart, or with knees together and feet apart, or with your legs twined around the chair legs.

Keep your midsection stretched slim. Don't slump down into your girdle or you will not only look awkward, but heavier about the waistline.

When you are ready to get up and go, have one foot slightly forward so the weight can be easily transferred to it for your first step. And in rising from a chair or sitting down, make your hip and thigh muscles do the work. Don't hoist yourself up with your arms.

In "Posture Makes the Figure" there are excellent correctives for rounded shoulders, forward head and neck, and sway back. Send large stamped return envelop to Ida Jean Kain, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., for this leaflet and make a habit of good posture.

Bright's Disease Requires Little Dieting

Bright's Disease.

Please give the symptoms of Bright's disease and a diet good for one who has it. (R. T. E.) How about coffee—must the patient give it up?

Answer: Sorry, but it is contrary to the spirit of a health column to provide symptoms for reader to try on. Best plan always is for the patient to tell the symptoms to his or her physician and to no one else. Generally one with Bright's disease (nephritis, kidney inflammation) may have coffee; in some cases of chronic Bright's disease coffee is a good remedy. Little special modification of diet is required, as a rule; the diet should be a fair maintenance diet, not restricted in protein, and should include a liberal variety of fresh vegetables and fruits, little or no added salt, never any alcoholic beverage or liquor, the more milk, buttermilk, skim milk, sour milk or items containing milk the better.

Fumes.

Are the fumes from an oil cooking range in any way dangerous or injurious to health? (Mrs. M. R.)

Answer: A defective or sooted burner may give off carbon monoxide (from incomplete combustion) whether the fuel be coal, wood, charcoal, coke, gas, oil or gasoline. The slightest pollution of the air in a room by carbon monoxide (colorless, odorless gas) may be dangerous to life, or injurious to health. Aside from that, the mere odor of oil or kerosene stove is not dangerous. It is always advisable to have a fuel burning stove used for cooking or heating properly connected with stove pipe or chimney flue or open air. Also a kitchen range burning any kind of fuel should have a hood or dome over it to lead fumes, smoke and odor out of the kitchen through ventilator to the open air.

Peroxide.

Does the use of peroxide as mouthwash have any bad effect on the teeth? (Mrs. F. K. S.)

Answer: If used reasonably it is harmless. If you mean to use it regularly or frequently, better ask your dentist.

I have over a hundred of your articles in clippings. How should I arrange a scrapbook or file to preserve them? (M. M. H.)

Answer—Perhaps someone who has invested a small fortune in one of those ponderous "doctor books" will sell it to you cheap, to use as a scrapbook.

MY DAY: Former WPA Job Proves a Liability

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK, Thursday.—I have just received a letter which, in itself, would not be so significant, but taken together with various other reports reaching me, is very disquieting. I am quoting it here approximately as it is written, changing only such things as might identify the writer:

"Several years ago, like many others, my family suffered financial reverses and we accepted FERA work, but not relief. I have supported my mother, who is a chronic invalid, and assisted my father through wages received through WPA work. From December, 1938, to May, 1941, I was fortunate to be on the administrative staff, first as a stenographer and later as an occupational interviewer, receiving when I left, $1,440 a year.

"My record for this period had been excellent. I was dropped from pay rolls through no fault of my own, and was thankful that I had been permitted to hold the job as long as I had. I desired to try my luck in private industry.

"I started June 1, making a tour of every agency handling stenographic, clerical and typing positions. The interviewers show their interest in my appearance, my ability to operate a typewriter, stenography and my ambition to continue college, even if it meant working at night; yet they are sorry they can do nothing for me because I have worked for the Works Progress Administration, and I will not lie about my work history. I am 26 years of age, of good parentage, have good training, good educational background, am attending Columbia with money saved over a period of five years in order to learn steno-typing, and yet I cannot get a job in New York City unless I lie, because I worked on WPA."

A similar picture is fairly true in other parts of the country. While this is not a universal experience, there are still enough employers who have this attitude to make it a very serious situation. Some eight and a half million Americans temporarily found work on WPA during the last six years. Their abilities and talents represent a pretty good cross-section of the American public and it seems to me very sad that any employer anywhere should not recognize that misfortune has come to people regardless of their own wishes or abilities.

Fathers, Like Beaus, Yield to Flattery

By DIXIE GEORGE.

Dear Dixie:

I am 16 years old and my Dad will not let me go with the boys. He has stopped several of them from coming to see me. I get very lonely not having any dates. The boys always blow when they pass the house, and if I am out on the porch they give me a friendly wave. Of course all of this makes Dad mad. He has told the boys I cannot have a date after sundown. Don't you think it would be all right to sit up until 10 o'clock at night? What must I do —talk to my father about the situation?

LONELY.

It certainly seems to me that it would be all right to have dates with the boys after sundown, and I think the time limit you have set is fine. What you should do is to discuss the matter with your father, and tell him that all the other girls are having dates. You should try to make him see your point, and tell him that you want to do everything he wants you to do, and that you will always respect his wishes. Talk to him as woman to man and try to make him see your side of the situation. The best thing to do is to gradually work up to your request by casually mentioning it from time to time. Don't jump into the subject without a build-up. Create his interest to your advantage, and then when you spring the final point, he will be more in the humor to talk and give you the right answer. You are 16 years old, but you are not too young to know that your father is a man and every man likes to be flattered. Keeping this in mind will be a great help in your problem.

TO WIN FATHER'S APPROVAL IS DAUGHTER'S JOB

Dear Dixie:

We are both high school graduates, and are very much in love with each other. We are not planning on marrying any time soon, for we are very young and want to wait so that we will be sure of how we feel about each other. We want to make a success of the marriage. I am going to college, and after I get a job, I have no bad habits, such as then we will be married.

But here is the trouble: her father will not let her go with me. drinking, smoking, or even cursing. I talked with him the night he ran me away and told me not to come back again, or even write. The girl is now working away from home in a distant town, and I manage to see her every weekend. Her father found out about it, and threatened to kill me if he caught me with her. I do not want to have trouble with him, but I am going with her at any cost. Neither of us date anyone else, for we do not care about anyone else. Her father does not care for her to go with other boys. We do not know what to do to make a happy ending of our story.

UNDECIDED.

As the situation now stands, I think that the girl is the one who will have to take matters into her own hands and work out the situation. If she loves you as much as you seem to think, and I believe she does, I think she should value your love so much that she will go to bat with her father about you. She should go to him and tell him she loves you, that you are the one she wants to marry, and that as far as she knows, you are a respectable, decent, and upright person. She should ask her father to give her his reasons for not wanting her to go with you; she should tell him that as his daughter she should be considered enough to have him discuss the subject with her, and relieve the worry on her mind. You have done what you can, and I admire and congratulate you upon the stand you have taken in the matter. There is one satisfaction you can have, and that is, that her father's refusal to let her go with you is not entirely personal, because you say that he objects to other boys, too. The only thing you can do is to stand by and see how the girl handles the situation. I think that the two of you can overcome his objections and everything will work out for the best.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edyth Thomas Wallace.

Mother: "All my life I've wanted to paint and now that the children are older, I'm taking some lessons."

Mother: "Mary can't paint very well but I'm hoping she'll improve. I always wanted to take lessons but I didn't get to."

HIGH'S SECOND FLOOR

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gordon will be honored Sunday at a family gathering at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Victor Bock, in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. The couple was married August 17, 1891, in Camden, N. J. They have made their home in Atlanta for the past 38 years. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have five children, ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Miss McGriff and Mr. Eaton Marry at West Palm Beach

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 15.—The marriage of Miss Grace Helen McGriff, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. McGriff, Tanglewood Court, and Gordon Norman Eaton, son of Charles T. Eaton, Palm Beach, was solemnized by the Rev. Father Robert T. Bryant at St. Ann's Catholic church at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The church was decorated with palms, ferns, pink gladioli and tuberoses. Sister Julian Marie, presided at the organ and accompanied Miss Yvonne Maloy and James Manning, soloists.

Mrs. Edward J. S. Donovan was matron of honor and the Misses Patricia Lowder, Newfield, N. J., the bride's cousin, and Jean Jenson, of New York, were bridesmaids. Mrs. Donovan wore a gown of peach marquisitte and taffeta with a hat of fresh pink and blue flowers and she carried a bouquet of rosebuds and babies-breath. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in silver and blue marquisette over satin. They wore fresh flower hats, tied with blue ribbons, and carried white prayer books.

Little Sallie Swan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Swan, in a long frock of peach marquisette, trimmed with blue velvet bows, scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

Colonel Edward J. S. Donovan was best ban; Davies Webster and Vincent Miranda were groomsmen and Michael Fischer and Jack McGriff, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, wore a wedding gown of white chiffon over satin and lace. The molded bodice was accented by the full skirt, caught at the hips by a heading of lace. Her finger-tip veil was caught by a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms and her only ornament was a cross and chain of platinum. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Eaton, of Atlanta, were among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding.

Miss Chafin Weds Nolan J. Booker

Miss Isla Mae Chafin became the bride of Nolan J. Booker at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Edgar Ivan Hilderbrand, on Pineview terrace.

Rev. G. C. Light read the marriage vows before an improvised altar of palms and flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Leon Ivon Chafin.

The bride wore a navy sheer ensemble, with a full-length coat. Her hat was of navy felt, with wide brim and Shepherd's point and her flowers were orchids.

Mrs. Rowan wore defense blue, with hat and accessories to match. Her flowers were pink rosebuds worn as a shoulder spray. Miss Louise Burdette, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Corley, sang.

Georgia Power Wins Thriller In City Meet

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

For eight and two-thirds innings yesterday, Lefty Dick Douthat shutout Georgia Power and looked as if he had pitched his Lawson General Hospital team to a victory in the opening round of the third annual Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation tournament.

But with two out in the ninth and Jake Gardner, who had doubled, resting on second, Schumacher grounded to second and was apparently thrown out at first base, which would have ended the contest.

But Umpire Dowda ruled Lawson's first baseman did not have his foot on the bag and Gardner trotted across the plate to tie the score, 1 to 1.

In the 11th, Moody beat out an infield hit to start the inning. Then he stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored when Humphries dropped a Texas League single back of first to win the game for Georgia Power, 2-1.

RAIN INTERFERES.

Rain halted second games of double-headers in all parks but one, but four other games were decided.

Post Office defeated W. O. Pierce, 7 to 4, at Fulton Bag diamond, but Fulton Bag was trailing General Shoe, 0-3, when the second game was called on the same field.

In the first game at Clarkdale, Villa Rica uncovered a big league pitching prospect in Dumar Paris, who turned in a six hitter, got three hits himself and scored the winning run to upset Whittier Mills, 1 to 0. The Clarkdale-Marietta contest was postponed.

At Dixisteel, White Provision blasted Commerce, 11 to 1, as Cobb Jenkins turned in a five-hitter in the opener.

The feature game of the afternoon, which pitted Oakland City's defending champions against favored Central Cafe at Ponce de Leon park, was called at the end of the third with the score 0-0. These popular favorites will meet again this afternoon.

DOUBLE-HEADERS.

Feature games will pit Central Cafe and Oakland City at Ponce de Leon at 12:45; Georgia Power and Post Office at 2:30 at the same field, and Southern Railway and the winner of the Central-Oakland game at 4:30.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.

AT PONCE DE LEON (Umpires Shi and Herrin)—12:45, Oakland City vs. Central Cafe. 2:30, Georgia Power vs. Post Office. 4:30, Southern Railway vs. winner Central-Oakland City game.

AT FULTON BAG FIELD (Umpires Pressly and McMillin)—12:45, General Shoe vs. Fulton Bag. 2:30, Whittier vs. loser Fulton Bag-General Shoe game. 4:30, Villa Rica vs. winner Fulton Bag-General Shoe game.

AT CLARKDALE (Umpires Moon and Williams)—1:00, Marietta vs. Clarkdale. 2:30, White Provision vs. winner Clarkdale-Marietta game. 4:30, Commerce vs. loser Marietta-Clarkdale game.

AT GLENN FIELD (Short and Dowdal 2:30, General Hospital vs. W. O. Pierce Dairy. 4:30, Arrow Shirts vs. loser Oakland City-Central Cafe game.

Hughes Plays Barnes; Rion Battles Jones

Two Atlantans Gain Semi-Finals of Canton Golf Tourney.

By AL SHARP.
Constitution Golf Writer.

CANTON, Ga., Aug. 15.—There was plenty of excitement, golfingly and otherwise, here today as Ed Barnes and Dr. Julius Hughes, both of Atlanta; Dan Rion, of Athens, and Ben Jones, of Canton, advanced to the semifinals of the annual invitation tournament.

Barnes, 48-year-old "darkhorse" who went to the finals of the Atlanta amateur meet last week, beat Tyre Jones, 1 up on the 19th hole, and then took another extra-hole battle from young Paul Gurley, of Cartersville, in the afternoon.

Dr. Hughes, who will face Barnes Saturday morning, defeated Ralph Brown, 4 and 3, and eliminated Carling Dinkler Jr., 1 up, 19 holes, in the afternoon.

Dan Rion, who was medalist with a 74, tripped Harold Florence, 1 up, and then took a default from Gene Gaillard, Atlanta, at the 12th hole of their quarter-finals match. Gaillard wanted to stop during the rain, which was accompanied by some lightning.

Jones set back John Pickett, of Cedartown, 3 and 1, before clipping Bill Little, of Marietta, to enter the semifinals against Rion.

The semifinals will be played in the morning with the finals Saturday afternoon.

Pickett furnished most of the other excitement when the plane flying him here from Cedartown landed on the sixth green. It wasn't quite a postage stamp landing.

It seems that the plane was aimed at the sixth fairway, but the pilot overshot the "field," and the plane skidded to a stop in the middle of the green. There was no penalty. The furrow across the green was filled with sand and off took the plane, this time avoiding the green.

Complete results of morning matches in the championship flight and pairings for other flights:

Championship Morning Matches—Gurley defeated Dallas Weaver, defending champion, 1 up; Barnes d. T. Jones, 1 up (19); Dinkler d. Bud Bicknell, 1 up (19); Hughes d. Brown, 4 and 3; Rion d. Florence, 1 up; Gaillard d. Bobby Dodd, Atlanta, 4 and 3; Little d. Ed Dugan, 1 up (19); B. Jones d. Pickett, 3 and 1.

Third Flight—Dr. T. Barrow Gibson-F. M. Wallace, L. L. Jones Sr.-Steve Tumlin.

Augusta Juniors Push to Finals

SUMTER, S. C., Aug. 15.—(UP) The Augusta (Ga.) American Legion juniors today defeated the Birmingham (Ala.) juniors 6-3, in the Legion's southeastern regional baseball tournament. It was Augusta's second win of the tourney.

FREE TWIN BILL.

ALBANY, Ga., Aug. 15.—Albany and southwest Georgia baseball fans will enjoy a free double-header next Monday night at the municipal stadium, guests of the Albany merchants who have distributed 25,000 free tickets, 12,000 in Albany and 13,000 in the territory.

All in The Game

BY JACK TROY

No 'X' for 'Bama

I just knew there was something we were missing in the wire reports this season. Old Major Bob Neyland isn't around to make his annual prediction that Alabama will be the best football team in the Southeastern Conference.

This has been a stock story for so many years that its absence is extremely noticeable. Why, it's almost as if Santa Claus forgot to pay his annual visit on the evening of December 24!

I hardly imagine that Frank Thomas regrets the conditions which have caused the discontinuance of the old Neyland custom. He can relax up to a point. But only up to a point. For one can no more afford to relax against Tennessee than one can afford to relax inadvertently in sitting on a pin cushion.

For three straight seasons Tennessee has gone unbeaten, and, despite the loss of Neyland and all those veterans who appeared in three straight bowl games, the Vols have better than fair-to-middlin' material.

They expect to cope on fairly even terms with mighty Duke and other toughies on the schedule. Tennessee has the added inspiration this season of playing for "one of the boys." John Barnhill, who has risen from line coach to Neyland's successor, is highly regarded by the players.

But weep no more for Alabama, ladies and gentlemen. Those crocodile tears of rival coaches have turned to brine. Joe Domnanovich, the demon center, is coming back. And so is Paul Spencer, a flashy back. 'Bama's prospects once again are on the upgrade. This should be Jimmy Nelson's year.

Maybe Neyland wouldn't be just going through a mischievous annual formality, after all, if he were around to pick the Crimson Tide as the team to beat.

Great Responsibility

I often think of the tremendous responsibility John Barnhill has inherited in following Neyland. I wonder if followers expect unbeaten seasons as a matter of course?

If I had only one guess I would say yes. Of course they do. They looked upon Neyland as a genius. That is, with regard to unbeaten seasons. Some of the aura of the miracle-worker was removed by two consecutive bowl defeats.

Anyway, it is unquestionably with mingled emotions that Vol followers await a new season. The Duke game comes early. This is the top inter-conference clash of the year involving southern teams.

What will Tennessee do with Major Bob gone? This will be a burning question as September practice begins.

And if I had another guess I'd say Tennessee will do just as well as if he were still in charge. John Barnhill is a splendid coach of fundamentals, just as Major Bob is. Barnhill has the confidence and loyalty of the players. He is even closer to them than Major Bob ever was.

If Tennessee is due to lose a game this fall, the Vols will lose it regardless of who is coaching.

Duke figures to be a mighty force this year. Wallace Wade has dream material. Duke rightfully is considered as the outstanding squad in all Dixie.

So Tennessee invades Durham for this early season (October 4) game, and even if Bob Neyland were still at the helm one would have to be fair and give Duke the edge.

Tide On Rise

Then there is the matter of the annual rivalry with Alabama. The Crimson Tide is on the rise. Two weeks after the Duke battle, the Vols take on the bonecrushers from the Capstone.

The Vols have been beating Alabama steadily. This sort of thing doesn't go on forever. If it should happen that Alabama—and the law of averages—overtakes Tennessee, will the cry go up that Barnhill is not a good coach?

I sincerely hope not.

He has been a good coach over the years, a most able aide of Major Bob. He has probably meant more to the team than most followers realize.

Heusser Wins 19th of Season In Relief Job

Burge's Single Paves the Way for Extra-Inning Victory in First.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 15. The Crackers and Little Rock divided a double-header here tonight, both games going into extra innings before being settled.

The Crackers won the first game, 8-7, in 10 innings, with Ed Heusser receiving credit for his 19th victory of the year. He went in the game as a relief man for Emile Lochbaum in the tenth.

FIRST GAME.

Atlanta pushed over a pair in the first. With one out, Mailho singled to center and Ryan singled him to second. Mailho took third after Burge flied to Dwyer. Glock's single to left scored Mailho and sent Ryan to third. Marshall's infield looper went for a single when Schalk was unable to reach it. Ryan scored and Glock, trying for third on the scratch, was out, Schalk to Resinger.

Little Rock tied the score with two unearned runs. Korte singled through Ryan and was forced by Dwyer. McBride singled to right, Dwyer taking third. Tyack popped and Resinger walked, filling the bases. Dwyer scored when Burge booted Schalk's roller. Mahan's single off Ryan's glove registered McBride.

Kerksieck retired the Crackers in order in the second. He fanned Richards and Gerlach and made Lochbaum roll to Schalk.

The Crackers regained their lead in the third. Bates raced out a dribbler to Resinger and Mailho singled him to third. Ryan walked, filling the bases. Burge popped to Schalk and Bates scored as Glock forced Ryan. Korte backed into short left to snag Marshall's pop.

Richards opened the fourth with a single and stopped at second on Gerlach's Texas Leaguer to right. Lochbaum sacrificed. When Schalk, covering first, dropped Resinger's throw, Richards scored on the error. Gerlach, also trying to advance, was out at third. Bates forced Lochbaum and Mailho flied to left.

The Rocks retaliated with three to take a 5-4 lead. Mahan was hit by a pitched ball. Dellasega singled him to third and Kerksieck walked, filling the bases. Korte forced Mahan at the plate. Dwyer's single, McBride's outfield fly and Tyack's double fashioned the trio of runs.

The game was delayed at the end of the fifth. Umpire Bond, who started behind the plate, exchanged posts with Blackard on the bases. Bond subbing for Parks, made the change because of illness.

Wildness by Lochbaum and a single gave the Rocks another in the sixth. With two away, Dwyer walked, McBride singled and Tyack walked, loading the sacks. Resinger's pass forced Dwyer home.

Two unearned runs enabled the leaders to knot the count 6-6 in the seventh. With one away, Mailho was safe on Schalk's muff. Ryan doubled Emil home and took third when Resinger threw the relay away. Connie counted on a wild pitch.

In the eighth Dwyer beat out a hopper to Ryan and McBride forced him, Marshall made a great catch of Tyack's liner in left center. Resinger's double to right scored McBride for Little Rock's seventh tally.

Atlanta tied it in the ninth. Ellis, batting for Lochbaum, singled to center, and Bates' single sent him to third. Ellis scored as Mailho grounded into a double play and Ryan fanned. Bates' blow kayoed Kerksieck. Heusser took over in the ninth for the Crackers.

Burge opened the 10th with a single to center and Glock flied to left. Marshall's single to left sent Burge to second. Richards forced Marshall, Burge taking third. When Schalk, trying for a double, threw low to Mahan, Burge scored the eighth Atlanta run. Gerlach popped.

SECOND GAME.

Atlanta threatened in the sixth. Ryan singled and took second as Crompton walked, after Burge and

Rookie Eaves Holds Redlegs To Five Blows

CINCINNATI, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Johnny Vander Meer's twelfth victory of the year and his fourth in succession sent Cincinnati into a third-place tie with the idle Pittsburgh Pirates today as the Reds, held to five hits, defeated Chicago, 3 to 1.

The Cubs' lone run came on the second ball pitched to Lou Stringer, first man at the plate—a home run that cleared the left field fence with plenty to spare. Although singles by Stan Hack and Hank Lieber followed, the double no-hit kid of 1938 got the next two men on strikeouts and Babe Dahlgren flied to end the threat.

Thereafter, the Jersey southpaw parceled out only three singles and walked as many. His strikeouts totaled eight.

Until the fourth, it appeared as if Eaves might emerge winner. Frank McCormick blasted his 10th homer of the year, however, to tie the score and in the fifth Jim Gleeson followed with his season's third round-tripper to give 1940's world champs the edge.

The Reds added another in the seventh on Bill Werber's double and Ernie Lombardi's single, with another single by Eddie Joost going to waste.

Atlanta Trap Aces To Shoot At Vandalia

Several Atlantans and Georgians will compete in the Grand American Trapshooting tournament which starts at Vandalia, O., Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde King, men's and women's state champions, will leave Atlanta Tuesday night for the meet. Inasmuch as the championship for state men's champions is scheduled to be fired Monday, Bill Golden, of Columbus, runner-up to King, will represent Georgia. This will be a 100-target shoot.

Larry Grant is the only other Atlanta shooter who will attend the meet. Other Georgians who will compete include Gordon Hight and Hiles Hamilton, of Rome, and Walter Sams Jr., of Athens.

Meanwhile, Bob Autrey, Capitol Gun secretary, announced a 50-target added bird skeet shoot for this afternoon at the club. Handicaps will be allowed to favor the lower average shooters. The Clyde Kings will be out to get a final round of practice at traps before the Vandalia events, and the trap fields will be open to those who wish to shoot.

Glock lifted, but Marshall flied to Tyack.

Dwyer opened the sixth with a double to left. McBride sacrificed Joe to third and Tyack was passed intentionally. Dwyer scored after Resinger flied to Mailho.

Atlanta tied the score in the seventh. Gerlach, Rambert and Bates each singled to fill the bases. Mailho's single to left scored Gerlach and Rambert. Intlekofer replaced Prendergast and Ryan raced out a bunt, again filling the bases. Then Intlekofer made Burge and Glock pop and fanned Crompton, leaving three men stranded. Crompton was chased for protesting.

The Travelers won it in the eighth. Dwyer walked. McBride, attempting to sacrifice, bunted to Rambert and both runners were safe when Gerlach dropped the throw to second as Dwyer slid into him. Tyack sacrificed to Burge unassisted and Resinger was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Schalk looped a single to center for the winning marker.

Burge 'Most Valuable' Southern League Player

Buddy Bates Second Choice in Newspaper's Poll; Richards Votes for Both Stars.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Lester Burge, slugging young first baseman of the Atlanta Crackers who was sold recently to the Brooklyn Dodgers, was selected today as the Southern association's most valuable player in a poll of managers conducted by Freddie Russell, sports editor of the Banner.

Four of the league's skippers picked Burge for first place, one rated him second and the other three gave him third place. Runner-up in the voting was Burge's teammate, Centerfielder Buddy Bates, who received three first-place votes.

The managers voting for Burge, who has poled 35 home runs and is batting .321, were Ray Blades, New Orleans, Oscar Roettger, Birmingham; Fred Lindstrom, Knoxville, and Paul Richards, Atlanta, who split his vote between Bates and Burge.

In addition to Richards' vote, Bates also was the first choice of Bert Niehoff, Little Rock, and Truck Hannah, Memphis.

Other players receiving votes in the one-two-three polling were Russell Evans, Chattanooga pitcher; Les Fleming, Nashville first-baseman; Hal Manders, Knoxville pitcher; Russell Meers, Nashville pitcher; Hank Sauer, Birmingham first baseman, and Buddy Lewis, Chattanooga catcher.

Whirly Faces Only 2 Horses In 72d Travers

By SID FEDER.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Whirlaway and a mudmaking rain threw a panic into the available three-year-olds today, and only two were willing to take a chance against the champ in tomorrow's 72nd running of the historic Travers Stakes.

Attention, the only colt to beat Whirly since he began his charge through the three-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby, couldn't make it because of an ailing leg. So, of those on hand, Sam Riddle's Lord Kitchener and William Dupont's Fairymant were the only entries besides that of the Kentucky Cannon Ball named for the $20,000 renewal of the nation's oldest horse race.

However, neither the rain or a racing "rep" bothered the entries for the Spinaway stakes for two-year-old fillies. Even though Alf. Vanderbilt's Petrify, unbeaten in all four of her starts this year, was one of the early entries, nine others dared to take a crack at the $10,000 jackpot. Heading these hopeful young ladies were Whirly's stablemate, Mar-Kell, daughter of the same sire (Blenheim 2nd) and William Ziegler Jr.'s Romping Home, winner of the Schuylerville stakes here less than a week ago.

As if Whirley's mighty reputation wasn't enough, when the dreary downpour started this afternoon, threatening mud for tomorrow, it began to look like even the two willing to take a chance might just as well stay home. Warren Wright's Whizz-Bang figured to go to the post at odds of about 1 to 8 and probably will have just that easy a time of it.

Trainer Ben Jones hadn't made up his mind tonight as to the jockey he'd name to steer Whirlaway straight in the mile-and-a-quarter gallop. Eddie Arcaro, the winning Derby-Preakness-Belmont pilot, is grounded under suspension, and the Wright contract jockey, Wendell Eads, isn't rated strong enough to keep the chestnut flier going in a straight line. It appeared, therefore, that Trainer Ben probably would put the finger again on Alf Robertson, who was aboard Whirlaway when he barely nipped War Relic in the Saranac last week.

Rains Hamper State Tourney; Metcalf Wins

The heavy rains washed out all but two of the matches scheduled yesterday in the Georgia State tennis tournament being played on the Northside courts here. Mary Jane Metcalf defeated Charlotte Padgett, 6-3, 6-3, in the women's singles division, and then teamed with Corrigan to take the measure of the Padgett-Wansker tandem in a doubles match, 6-2, 6-0.

A full card is on the docket for today, with quarter-finals in the men's singles and semi-finals in the women's singles slated.

Some top-notch matches are included on the day's schedule, and officials announce the courts are being worked on and readied for play unless hard rains continue this morning. Early matches start at 10 o'clock and the afternoon program will begin at 2 o'clock.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Indians, was banished from the field for the second time within a week during a protest of an interference decision called against Cleveland First Baseman Hal Trosky by Umpire Cal Hubbard in the seventh inning.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Rookie Bob Muncrief checked the Detroit Tigers on six hits tonight while the St. Louis Browns made a like number of blows good enough for a 6-to-1 triumph, largely because of Outfielder Joe Grace's third-inning homer with two on base.

Prep All-Stars Drill at Athens In State Clinic

Absentees Are Expected Today When Elevens Practice Again.

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 15. — All hands were expected to be on deck tomorrow morning when picked squads of Georgia high school football stars swing into their second day of drills at the University of Georgia.

There were only a few absentees today as Coaches Ray Wolfe, of North Carolina, and Rex Enright, of South Carolina, sent their charges through two stiff practice sessions.

Notably missing were Joe Davis and Jim Powell, star Valdosta backs; and Ralph McLendon, of Jordan, a guard on the southern team. Dwight Keith, secretary of the Georgia Athletic Coaches' Association, said Powell and Davis would be on hand when tomorrow's practice session starts, but it was doubtful about McLendon.

REPORTED EARLY.

Actual opening of the fourth annual clinic will not be until Monday, but all members of the football squads were ordered to report two days early in order that preliminary drills could be completed before the high school coaches get here for lectures and demonstrations.

Both Coach Enright, who is in charge of the northern team, and Coach Wolf, of the south, spent today getting acquainted with the boys they are to coach, and went to work in earnest to teach them plays to be used in the regulation football game in Atlanta next Friday night.

Coach Enright, faced with a shortage of good backs because of losses since the two squads were chosen, moved Jake Cox, Boys' High's kicking guard, to blocking back, a position at which he is expected to start against the southerners.

To relieve the pressing backfield situation of the north, Harold Maguire, ace passer on last year's Athens High team, was added to the roster. Mac Bagwell, of Hartwell, was put on the northern squad at end and Ralph Farmer of Toccoa will join the group tomorrow at tackle. Jack Claxton, a lineman from Claxton, was added to the southern squad.

TEAMS UNSELECTED.

change his ability any. He will continue to be a good coach.

But the question still remains as to whether or not the sophomores, letter men and reserves he inherits will be good enough to replace the tried and true veterans who departed in a body, the Foxxes, the Suffridges, the Molinskys, et al.

It is to be granted that Tennessee has good material this season, but a lot of excellent material left with Major Bob Neyland.

Competition There are no southern soft spots on the Tennessee schedule. Maybe you haven't heard, but ole Joel Hunt has injected a bit of new life into the situation at L. S. U., and they do say that the Bayou Bengals will be tough to get along with this fall. Hunt is the backfield coach for Bernie Moore.

And both Kentucky and Vanderbilt, especially the latter, will be greatly improved. Red Sanders may have a whale of a Commodore team.

Even though they're not rated in the upper strata, Furman's Purple Hurricane, to be played in the opening game, is expected to prove troublesome. Dizzy McLeod has had good material over the years, but he calls the current prospects the best he has ever had.

That leaves only Howard as a Dixie team that probably can't give the Vols any competition at all.

Davison Cup The Georgia state tennis champion once again is going to be the proud possessor of the handsome Davison cup. It was awarded for the first time last year and "in all probability will continue to be given by the Davison-Paxon Company," Ches Lagomarsino Jr. announces. This interest has been most helpful in the promotion of amateur tennis in city and state.

Atlanta Stars Enter Griffin Net Tourney

Bulldogs Lose Tommy Green

Tackle Must Help Support Parents

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 15.—Tommy Green, a regular tackle at the University of Georgia for the past two years, notified Coach Wallace Butts by letter today he would not return to school this fall.

Green said his father had been forced to retire from work due to a breakdown in health this summer and that he felt it necessary for him to remain at home and help support his parents.

Tommy, a 210-pounder, was a native of Macon, Ga., where he has been working this summer.

In his letter to Coach Butts, Green said, "I shall always be behind you and the University of Georgia" and "I am deeply grateful for all that you have done for me."

Parker Upset By Schroeder In Semi-Finals

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 15.—(AP) Frederick R. Schroeder Jr., of Glendale, Cal., rated 10th nationally and seeded fourth, gained the finals of the 25th annual Newport Invitation tennis tournament today by upsetting Frankie Parker, of Altadena, Cal., 6-4, 8-10, 6-4, and 6-4.

The second-ranking Parker appeared off his game. He failed to follow the ball and declined to race the courts as did his younger adversary. Schroeder, on the other hand, played consistent and dogged tennis.

Maddox May Get Post at Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 15.—(AP) Ralph (Red) Maddox, one of the University of Georgia's "Flaming Sophs of 1929," is to confer with Columbus High school officials this weekend and may land a coaching berth.

Jesse Foshee, former Alabama lineman who was hired for the post of head football coach last spring, has decided to remain at Talladega (Ala.) High school. It was reported he received a salary hike.

Fort Benning Boxers Shine In Rain at Lakewood Park

By THAD HOLT.

John S. Blick, chairman of the Kiwanis Club's Underprivileged Child's Committee, which sponsored the show, announced himself grateful to all who co-operated in staging the successful program, which, despite the worse sort of weather, netted a tidy sum for undernourished children.

Frankie Allen, C. A. Reeves and Jimmy Murphy donated their services as referees. The judges were Dr. J. R. Jordan, Harry Broadnax and Herman Crocker. Nero Pittman was timekeeper.

Mike Benton gave the Kiwanis Club Lakewood free and was the very able announcer and master of ceremonies.

RESULTS.

EVANS IS LOOKOUT HERO.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Red Evans pitched and batted the Chattanooga Lookouts to an 8-1 victory over Memphis tonight, giving up only eight hits and slamming out a ninth-inning homer that scored four Lookout runs. Rikard homered for the Chick run.

Approximately 15,000 fans, guests of a downtown drugstore chain, watched the game. The score was deadlocked at 1-all from the fifth to the ninth inning, Chattanooga moving ahead just before Evans' homer climaxed the bill.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Light selling put the stock market on the down-grade today after an early attempt to extend Thursday's feeble rally encountered opposition.

The half-hearted upturn of the preceding session, while it was the first on average since July 28, failed to impress analysts who had expected more of a technical rebound. Offerings, consequently, began to seep into the list before mid-day and, at the close, leaders were off fractions to a point or so.

Stock Average Dips.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite lost .4 of a point at 42.7 where it was back to around the levels of early July. The day's drop duplicated that of last Saturday. Transfers of 385,470 shares were the smallest for any five-hour stretch since July 1. They compared with 415,260 the day before.

Wall Street still could find scant speculative motivation in the Roosevelt-Churchill accord. A little bearishness was thought to have cropped up on the recommendation of the United States Chamber of Commerce to the Senate Finance Committee that the present tax bill be boosted $1,000,000,000 to $4,500,000,000. Some pessimism was attributed to the reported Nazi sweep in the Ukraine and persistent Far Eastern tension.

A number of good earning statements were helpful, but heavy tax provisions clouded many of these. Moderate cheer was derived from business items, mainly another sharp jump in retail spending throughout the nation.

Curb List Prices.

This week's automotive production increased a shade as makers began work on new 1942 models, but the question of restricted output because of lack of materials continued to handicap stocks in this group. Steels once more were impeded by the growing scrap shortage.

Among shares, Bethlehem Steel conceded 1 1-4 points at 67 1-2, a new 1941 low. Others in the retreating division were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, American Can, Sante Fe, Great Northern, American Smelting and Texas Corporation.

Downward drifters in the curb were N. J. Zinc, Pennroad, American Gas, Humble Oil, Gulf Oil, Phoenix Securities and American Cyanamid "B."

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The majority of corporate bonds were on the offering side of today's market and at the close declines of fractions to a point were plentiful. A few low-priced rails contested the trend.

United States Treasuries joined in the sliding movement, although most issues lost only a minor fraction over the counter and a few of longer term loans bounced up around a half point on the stock exchange.

Scattered strength was found in the foreign dollar department, notably among the Japanese municipals and Italians, although here, too, the major trend leaned to the offside.

Transfers of $5,855,700, par value, were a shade ahead of Thursday's $5,693,800. Of the five groups in the Associated Press averages, three—rails, utilities and foreigns—were down and the low-yields and industrials were unchanged.

Steel Shipments Highest in History

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Shipments of finished steel products by subsidiaries of U. S. Steel Corporation for July and the first seven months of this year were the highest for the respective periods in the history of the corporation, it was announced yesterday.

July shipments were 1,665,667 net tons, compared with 1,668,637 tons in June, a decrease of 1,970 tons. In July last year the total was 1,296,887, with the latest month's figures representing a rise of 369,780 tons for a July record.

In the first seven months of this year shipments were 11,719,544 tons, compared with 7,585,285 tons in the similar period of 1940, an increase of 4,134,259 tons.

The previous record for July was in the boom year 1929, when shipments were 1,480,008 tons. The previous best seven months' figures was the 7,585,265 tons reported last year.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—World sugar futures fluctuated widely today and closed unchanged to 5½ points lower on sales of 28,500 tons.

Early losses were wiped out in a rally based on reports Britain had bought 25,000 tons of Cuban raw sugar at 1.65 cents a pound but profit-taking knocked prices down again.

World sugar closed September 1.62½ bid, December 1.67½ bid, March 1.70 bid, May 1.72 bid, July 1.72½ bid.

Some raw sugar was reported delivered at the ceiling price of 3.50 cents a pound, sellers retaining the right to obtain the full contract figure if permitted by the price administration or by a court.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Coffee traders, uncertain over quotas for next year, permitted Santos futures prices to sag 1 to 4 points today. Volume was only 7,850 bags.

Santos closed September 11.98 bid, December 12.18, March 12.32, May 12.42 bid, July 12.52 bid.

Rio futures were 1 point lower to 2 higher on sales of 500 bags. December closed 8.09 bid. March 8.29 bid. Spot Santos No. 4s were quoted at 13¼-13½ cents a pound; Rio No. 7s at 9¼ cents.

AVERAGE PRICE.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16-inch cotton today at 10 designated southern spot markets was 2 points lower at 15.74 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days was 15.92. Middling 7-8-inch average, 15.53.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Cotton futures values declined 15 to 30 cents a bale today in a session that saw prices fluctuate nervously.

The uneasiness was attributed to fears of possible price reaction if President Roosevelt should veto the cotton-wheat loan stocks freezing bill.

Trade circles said the reports of insect infestation in the south indicated considerable damage, while additional rain might seriously affect the new crop.

Exports Thursday, 1,794 bales; season so far, 27,619; port receipts, 7,156; port stocks, 3,168,995.

COTTON STRENGTHENED BY TRADE BUYING.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Trade buying strengthened cotton futures here today after early losses were shown. The market closed steady 3 points net higher to 4 lower.

Cottonseed Oil

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Cottonseed oil futures gained 10 to 17 points today in a dull session with volume of 40 contracts. Traders attributed the advance to strength in allied markets.

September closed 11.88 bid, October 11.68 bid, December 11.60, March 11.64. Bids for new crop crude oil were 10¾ cents a pound in the southeast and valley and 10½ cents in Texas.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—After wavering most of the session, wheat prices today managed to close at the best levels of the day, which were ½-⅞ cent higher than yesterday's final quotations.

Late mill buying and short covering and evaporation of hedging and profit-taking sales evident earlier in the day contributed to the market's closing firmness.

There were no trade developments upon which to base new buying, however. September wheat closed at 1.12⅛-1.12¼, December $1.15⅞-1.16 and May $1.19⅛-1.19¼, all within about 2 cents of the four-year peaks registered early yesterday.

Corn finished ⅜-¾ cent higher, September 78⅛, December 81⅜-81¾; Oats ¼-½ up; Rye ¼-⅜ higher; soybeans 2¼-2½ up and lard 5-10 higher.

Careful Burglar Lowers Screen After Robbery

A burglar who lowered the window screen before fleeing Thursday night robbed the home of C. W. Allen, 1288 Oakdale road, N. E., DeKalb county police said.

The officers reported the burglar entered a bedroom in the rear of the Allen residence, while members of the family were in the front of the house, taking $25 from a pocketbook. He ws considerate enough to lower the screen while leaving.

One Killed, 16 Injured In Colombia Air Crash

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 15.—(AP)—One man was killed and 16 were injured today when a Colombian transport plane carrying 17 Army men crashed in an attempted take-off from Palanquero airport on the Magdalena river.

Two other Army planes and a United States mission plane brought the injured to Bogota for treatment.

Fact-Finding Group Seeks State Charter

23 Sign Petition for Incorporation of Movement.

Petition for a state charter was filed yesterday in Fulton superior court by the Citizens' Fact-Finding Movement of Georgia.

Twenty-three widely known Georgians signed the petition for incorporation of the fact-finding body as a non-stock, not-profit organization.

Its purpose, the petition stated, is the "assembling and distributing of factual data for scientists, literary and educational purposes, with respect to the human and material resources of Georgia and to further the well-being of its people."

Mrs. R. A. Long, J. C. Wardlaw, J. I. Allman, Mrs. J. C. Blalock, O. B. Brewer, Harry Cooper, Mary Gray, Sarah Jones and Josephine Wilkins were signers from Fulton county.

Other signers included: James V. Carmichael, Cobb county; J. Roy McGinty, of Gordon; Stanley A. Elkin, of Bibb; Cleve Allen, of Elbert; Mrs. L. G. Almonrode, of Telfair; Arthur Boyett Jr., of Marion; Mrs. Fred D. Bridges, of DeKalb; J. Louis Buchanan, of Wilkes; Mrs. Ralph Butler, of Paulding; Mrs. Alcie Hill, of Clarke; Elizabeth Leacy, of Chatham; Robert M. Stiles, of Bartow; Mrs. Harry M. Gershon, of DeKalb, and W. C. Henson, of Bartow.

Henry C. Simmons Is Named to Staff

Henry C. Simmons, president of the Simmons Plating Works and long-time supporter of the Governor, yesterday was named to the Governor's staff with the rank of lieutenant colonel, effective immediately.

Financial

AUTO LOANS

We are convinced we are the most liberal loan company in Atlanta. You know, however, all finance and loan companies are going to be restricted by the government. How long these appraisals will be allowed, we do not know—

Atlas Appraisals (Approximate):

Make—	'35	'36	'37	'38	'39	'40
Ford	$150	$225	$275	$350	$425	$525
Chevrolet	175	250	300	375	475	575
Plymouth	175	250	300	375	475	575

(Deviations depending on condition of car—Other models and makes in proportion.)

We are sure, however, they will be CUT. So if you are thinking about a loan on your car, or thinking about refinancing your car—SEE US AT ONCE. Do not wait until government restrictions will make it impossible for us to help you. See Us Now.

Easy Terms On Cars
Some so-called easy terms become very hard indeed on account of heavy carrying charges and interest and insurance added to the notes. We carry much of our paper and our terms and charges are always FAIR and REASONABLE.
We specialize on Chevrolets, Fords and Plymouths, but have several most unusual bargains in larger cars.

Army Trained, In Full Defense, Stimson Says

Peril of Attack From South America Cited in Address.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson declared tonight that the Army was being trained to defend the United States at any point from which an attack might be launched, and he described the present area of greatest danger as being Central and South America.

"If, by combining an air attack with a fifth column revolution," he said in an address prepared for broadcasting over the Mutual network, "an Axis power should succeed in making a lodgement upon the coast of South America, we should have a real task indeed; for it would not be difficult for an enemy lodged there to get within easy bombing distance of the Panama canal."

Already, he said, some of the most significant symptoms which "invariably forecast the coming of an Axis attack" are discernible in South America. He mentioned "unrest and excitement" in various Latin republics "which are being attributed by the governments of those republics to the machinations of foreign secret agents." With these developments he linked the fact that Germany might take over Dakar, west Africa, from the friendly Vichy government of France, and he said that "the distance from Dakar to the easternmost point of Brazil can easily be traversed either by air or sea."

Addressed to Soldiers.

Stimson directed his address specifically to "soldiers of the Army of the United States" and said he was making it because he wanted the men in uniform to understand why it was necessary for the government to hold them in service beyond the year for which most of them were called.

In making his explanation, the war secretary gave one of the most complete statements of American grand strategy thus far made by a ranking government official.

In that connection, he recounted that the government had spent the last year in surrounding the country with "outposts and bastions from which it could be defended against attacks which appear so inevitable," and in strengthening the resistance to the Axis of those countries, especially Britain, which are now engaged in fighting it.

Pacific Bases Mentioned.

Mentioning Pacific bases, he said those in Alaska and the Aleutian islands were especially important because "Japanese newspapers are already beginning to tell us the trouble we may expect to have in Alaska if Germany conquers Russia."

The Army, he said, must be prepared to fight "on the icebound coasts of the north Atlantic and of the north Pacific as well as in the tropic heat of Panama or South America."

"American soldiers," he added, "are already standing guard on the east from Iceland to British Guiana and on the west from Alaska to Panama. A successful attack upon any one of these outposts would bring an enemy within bombing distance of our great cities and would make necessary a major military effort to drive him off."

The Army IN GEORGIA

"Are you the owner of that antitank bovine?"

BRITISH CADETS LEAVE NO BROKEN HEARTS BEHIND

Twenty-nine British cadets, who yesterday finished their primary work at Americus and moved on to Macon for basic training in flying war planes, were sure they were not leaving behind any broken hearts among the local belles.

It was not that the Britishers had not found the southern girls pretty and likeable, because they did and had hours of fun drinking soft drinks and dancing with their new, hospitable friends. A love affair, however, just wouldn't have been cricket.

"We are making it a point not to develop any serious love affairs with American girls," said Ken Parfitt, a mustached cadet from Bath, England, who sold insurance before joining Great Britain's armed forces.

"In the first place we don't have much time, being in one city only a short time and having only the weekends for meeting the people. In the second place, it would not be fair to the girls—to say nothing of ourselves—to let them become too interested in us, when we will be transferred to other cities and eventually to the war front."

This group of British cadets was one of several in the south that had completed the primary course and was being transferred to another camp for basic training.

Stimson Plea Restores Part Of Cash Slash

Senate, House Put Back $750,00,000 of Money Cut From Outlay.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP) An appeal from Secretary of War Stimson for money to build and improve tanks and manufacture antiaircraft guns today won a partial reversal of the senate's recent action in cutting $1,347,000,000 from a $6,838,436,000 defense appropriation bill.

After Stimson had asserted that gyrostabilizers — enabling the tanks to fire accurately while in motion—and quantities of antiaircraft guns were needed, a joint senate-house committee agreed to restore $750,000,000 of the amount cut from the bill.

Later, the conference committee report on this and other aspects of the big bill was approved by the house and senate.

Slashes Approved.

The elimination of a $1,000,000 fund for policing naval establishments with a special guard force; a reduction from $1,440,000 to $800,000 in funds for ship facilities in New Orleans, and from $1,000,000 to $800,000 for a naval warehouse at Norfolk, Va. It was also agreed that "confidential" funds to be spent by the President without accounting to congress would be cut from $4,000,000 to $2,500,000.

Stimson made known his views in a letter to Chairman Glass, Demorat, Virginia, of the Senate Appropriations Committee. It was read to the conference committee.

The Army, Stimson said, was preparing to manufacture gyrostabilizers which make stable firing platforms on tanks. Without the device, he added, tanks must come to a stop before they can fire with any degree of accuracy.

He added that this improvement would reduce the vulnerability of the tank to enemy fire and would greatly increase the effectiveness of tank fire.

The army needs money, too, he said for the manufacture of a mechanism which trains the guns of tanks by power with a consequently "more accurate fire effect."

Antiaircraft Guns.

The number of available antiaircraft guns must be increased, he said, because it is "useless to organized antiaircraft units until equipment becomes available for their training."

"One of the most important lessons in protection against aircraft learned in the present hostilities," he continued, "is that antiairtcraft guns must have the highest possible ceiling.

"In order to take advantage of the efficiency of the recently developed 4.7-inch antiaircraft gun, which has a range beyond that of any similar gun now available, it is desired to procure this weapon in sufficient quantities so that it may be utilized to defend the most vital areas."

He called, too, for an increased number of antitank guns.

Gas May Be Had From 2-7 Sunday

Atlanta service stations will be open tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 7 o'clock, Jimmie Robinson, president of the Georgia Retail Petroleum Dealers' Association, pointed out yesterday.

"A city ordinance prohibits the service stations from being open Sunday mornings," Robinson said.

Cuba Will Oust All Nazi Consuls

HAVANA, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Minister of State Jose Manuel Cortina announced tonight that the Cuban government has decided to notify German Charge d'Affaires Stephan Tauchnitz that all German consuls and consular agents must leave Cuba, "in conformity with high national and American policy." No time limit has been set for their departure.

Cortina also announced that he has notified Italian Minister Giovanni Persico that Amadeo Barletta, who was Italian consul-general in Havana until the consulate was closed recently, must leave Cuba before September 5.

Callaway Farm Is Visited by LaGrange Clubs

150 Guests See Huge Project in Harris County.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Aug. 15.—Cason J. Callaway, of Blue Springs Farm, at Hamilton, was host at a joint meeting of the three civic clubs of LaGrange Wednesday when approximately 150 members of the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs were entertained with a barbecue. The guests were conducted over the extensive farms of Mr. Callaway, where they viewed with interest the huge oat bins in the barns, which house this year's crop of 30,000 bushels of the finest quality oats, picked blueberries on the vast blueberry acres, were shown the hundreds of vines of ripening scuppernongs, were conducted to the scenes of the work being accomplished in soil building, where 2,000 acres of cleared land has replaced overgrown swampland and wooded upland.

Mr. Callaway explained the many experiments he is trying out to improve the lot of the Georgia farmer, many of which have already proven of great value to wide-awake farmers in this section.

It is a rule on this plantation, according to Mr. Callaway, to avoid all crops which require cultivation, such as cotton and corn, as these are the erosion crops which have done untold damage to southern lands, allowing them to wash away. He advocates legumes in the soil-building program of Georgia farms, and the harvesting of seeds from the clover is a great part of the farm program on this mammoth experimental farm.

Nude Women Sent Into Battle To 'Distract' Them, Reds Say

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—(UP)—A Soviet dispatch from the front claimed today that the Germans are sending nude women into battle to "distract" Russian troops.

An Alpine division of the Germans, presumably in Finland, was said to have brought hundreds of camp followers from Hamburg.

The women, entirely nude, waded into a river defended by the Russians while the Germans, believing the Russians' attention to have been diverted, attempted to cross farther down the stream.

The Red army soldiers "were not fooled," the dispatch added.

Two New Polio Cases in Fulton

Atlanta and the rural section of Fulton county had one delayed report each on infantile paralysis cases and three new cases were reported over the state yesterday, bringing Georgia's total to 425 since June 1.

Dr. J. F. Hackney, assistant city health officer, said the Atlanta case started August 6. The city's total now stands at 86 and the rural section of Fulton has listed 46 cases.

Nazi Envoy to Turkey Said Disgraced, Recalled

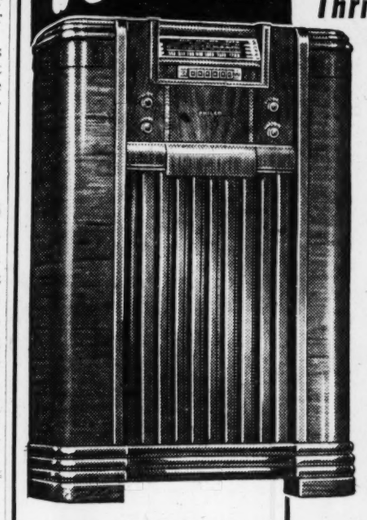

ISTANBUL, Aug. 15.—(UP)—Neutral diplomats tonight claimed information that Baron Franz Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, has fallen into "disgrace" with Adolf Hitler and has been recalled to Berlin because of his failure to achieve a Nazi-Turkish military alliance.

According to these unconfirmed reports, Hitler has expressed open dissatisfaction with his ace diplomat for the latter's failure to line up the Turks against Russia and obtain the use of Turkish territory as a jumping-off point for an attack on the Russian Caucasus.
